Topaz Heights residents, adjacent to the proposed new city "dump," propose to protest by petition against garbage disposal at their doors.

BUDGET COMING MONDAY, TUESDAY?

Government whips definitely indicated today that the Throne speech debate in the Legislature will continue through the Friday sitting. This means that the provincial budget—which may announce a complete change in financing hospital insurance by wiping out premiums and substituting an increase in sales tax—will not be presented until either Monday or Tuesday next week. The opening debate, by running to the end of the third week of the session, is one of the longest on record.

CPR to Appeal Board Ruling On 9% Hike

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway will appeal Board of Transport's Feb. 15 judgment refusing to allow the railway a specified "rate of return" on its investment in rail property, it was learned today. The appeal would be made to the Supreme Court of Canada.

The transport judgment has been called its most important ruling in 50 years.

The railway, informants said, will contend that a "fair return" to a company is implicit in the long-standing parliamentary direction to the board that it is to prescribe "just and reasonable" freight rates.

In the railway application that was largely thrown out by the board two weeks ago, the CPR contended it should have a "rate of return" on its rail investment that would give it a 9 per cent freight rate increase now and open the way for possible rate increases later.

British Seek Truce With Mau Mau Body

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—Britain launched an effort today to negotiate a truce with the Mau Mau Mau Mau organization which has brought death and terror to thousands in its efforts to drive the white man out of Africa.

British authorities were aided in their efforts by "General China," captured No. 2 leader of the terrorists whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment for his co-operation.

British officials established contact with the terrorists through letters written by General China to his subordinates, an official statement said.

The statement said questioning of China, who was wounded when he was captured January 16, indicated a widespread feeling among the Mau Mau that further fighting was useless.

CANADA-RUSS GAME MAY DECIDE TITLE

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada remained unbeaten in the world hockey championships today by easily defeating Germany 8-1.

It was the fourth straight victory in the eight-team round robin tournament for Toronto East York which meets Moscow Dynamo, also unbeaten, next Sunday in the final, and what may be the deciding game of the championships.

Earlier today Czechoslovakia defeated Norway 7-1. The Czechs now have a 4-1 record.

The Russians had a game scheduled for later today and were not expected to have any trouble with Switzerland.

ART STOTT VIEWS THE HOUSE

Radar Fence May Stretch Out to Sea

Picket Ships
Being Considered

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States are thinking seriously of posting radar picket ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Defense officials said today an ocean radar screen will have to be established eventually as the Russians develop bombers with longer ranges.

Up to now, the main threat of attack against North America has been across Arctic regions. That will probably continue to be the main avenue for any attack for some time to come. But as bombers increase, their range, defense planners say they must consider the possibility of air attack coming directly from the sea and with little warning.

According to this view, attacking bombers, instead of flying by the shortest route over the Arctic, might travel south over the Atlantic or Pacific Oceans, outside radar range, then wheel swiftly into the coast.

The answer to this threat, officials said, would be a system of floating radar stations.

600 B.C. Oil Workers Delay Strike Action

VANCOUVER (BUP)—An oil workers' strike that would have tied up four B.C. companies and a plant in Edmonton was postponed today after a last-minute indication of concessions by the operators.

Six hundred members of the Oil Worker's International Union had set a strike deadline of 8 a.m. today at the Shell, Standard and Imperial refineries and the British American Oil Co. marketing plant here.

The Imperial Oil plant at Edmonton was to have been included because the company brings supplies to this province.

Walter McCallum, international representative of the union, said early today the deadline had been postponed following union-company negotiations Tuesday afternoon and evening.

He said further meetings were scheduled "soon."

"The companies have moved from their former position," McCallum said. "They have indicated they are prepared to in-

PUERTO RICAN REPORT;

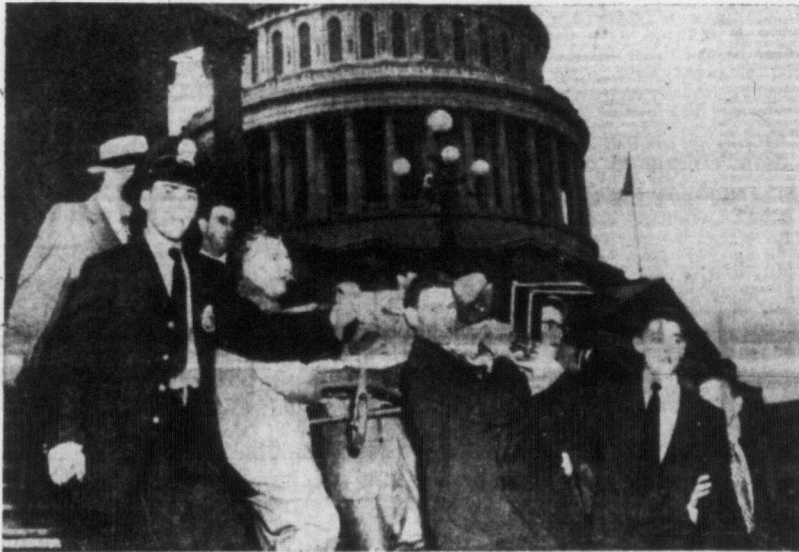

Ike, Dulles, Hoover Were Listed for Death

Puerto Rican Fanatics Indicted by U.S. Court

A federal grand jury in Washington today indicted four Puerto Ricans for a wild pistol attack upon the House of Representatives Monday which saw five members of Congress wounded. Above, police hold on to three of the radicals, one a woman, immediately following the shooting.

Police and aides carry out Kenneth A. Roberts (D., Ala.), who was shot in leg by Puerto Ricans. Today hospital officials announced that Alvin M.

Bentley (R., Mich.), most seriously wounded of the five, had been taken off the critical list. (NEA photos.)

'DISREGARD OF THE STANDARDS OF FAIR PLAY' Eisenhower Defends General Flayed by McCarthy as Unfit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today spoke out against "disregard of the standards of fair play" in congressional investigations; He specifically lauded Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, whom Senator Joseph McCarthy had termed unfit for command.

McCarthy promptly retorted he'd go on investigating Communism. He said: "If a stupid, arrogant or witless man in a position of power appears before our committee and is found aiding the Communist party, he will be exposed. The fact that he might be a general places him in no special class as far as I am concerned."

"It now appears that for some reason he was a sacred cow of certain army brass."

It was McCarthy's criticism of Zwicker during interrogation on the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress that touched off last week's row and a complaint by Army Secretary Robert Stevens that Zwicker had been humiliated.

At one point, Stevens ordered Zwicker not to appear again before McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, but he later agreed the general and other army officers would testify.

ARMY ERRED

Eisenhower opened his press conference today by reading an 800-word statement. It stated at the outset that the army "made serious errors in handling the Peress case" and noted that Stevens had so stated publicly.

The President said the army was "correcting the procedures" to avoid such mistakes in the future.

But he implied criticism of McCarthy's methods without mentioning the Wisconsin Republican by name when he said:

"In opposing Communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness, we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

"The conscience of America will clearly discern when we are exercising proper vigilance without being unfair. That conscience is reflected in the body of the United States Congress. We can be certain that its members will respond to Americans' convictions and beliefs in this regard."

Congress Shooting Said Part of Plot

(Copyright, 1954, by United Press)

NEW YORK (UP)—The shooting of five congressmen in Washington on Monday was part of a plot to overthrow the United States government by the assassination of its leaders. Private advices to the United Press from San Juan, Puerto Rico, said today that among those marked for death in the plot were President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover.

The advices from Puerto Rico said the Federal Bureau of Investigation has alerted its agents to the possibility of further outbreaks of violence by fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists. In addition to Mr. Eisenhower, Dulles and Hoover, charged with protection of Mr. Eisenhower took additional precautions shortly after the shooting in Congress earlier this week.

Peril of Assassinations Remains

There was no indication that the projected assassination of Mr. Eisenhower, Dulles, Hoover and the Puerto Rican leaders was scheduled to have taken place simultaneously with the shooting in the House of Representatives. Thus the peril, according to UP advices, still remains and the possibility of further attempts at assassination is the reason for the FBI alert.

Advices to the UP said the shooting in Washington was viewed with approval by Nationalist headquarters in Puerto Rico. Albizu Campos, Nationalist leader in Puerto Rico, was reported to have instructed his followers to resist arrest.

The FBI has been watching the Nationalist Party since its violent manifestations in 1936. After Campos was released from prison following long Communist propaganda in his behalf, Vito Marcantonio, then a member of the House of Representatives in Washington, denounced the FBI for seeking to have Campos returned to prison as a probation violator. Marcantonio said that "the conduct of the FBI against Campos is criminal."

Marcantonio formerly represented a New York Congressional district containing thousands of Puerto Ricans.

Campos was quoted in an interview in the pro-independence newspaper El Imparcial as saying that he considers Puerto Rico at war with the United States.

The interview also quoted the Nationalist leader as saying Monday's terrorist attack in Congress was "sublime heroism."

Campos' party was responsible for this week's outbreak as well as the terrorist attempt on President Truman's life in 1950 and the abortive revolt in Puerto Rico the same year in which 33 persons were killed.

The Nationalist leader was sentenced to prison for 81 years for his part in the 1950 revolt, but was pardoned last year as a "mental case" after he told physicians he was being subjected to "uninterrupted attacks with atomic weapons from buildings surrounding the prison."

NO COMMENT—Speculation mounted today that Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott is on his way out of the House of Commons and into the Supreme Court. Unconfirmed reports that he has been tagged for the job came to head when Stanley Knowles, CCF MP, told the Commons "I don't want to indulge in any form of witchcraft or fortune telling... but I will go so far as to make the prediction that the minister of finance will not be bringing down supplementary budgets on many more occasions." Abbott will turn his estimates over to Parliament on June 22, the same day the present chief justice becomes 75 years of age and, Knowles concluded, "I wonder whether there might be a change involving the present minister of finance." Abbott had no comment.

Mountaineers' Lectures Aid Little Ones

Some 16 youngsters, oldest of whom is 13, all suffering from cerebral palsy, are currently receiving daily treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital's old nurses' home. The children are driven to the clinic each day by volunteer drivers from Oak Bay and Victoria fire departments in three cars which have been supplied by three city garages. The association, which will have its coffers swelled by proceeds from the Times-sponsored lecture by Sid Edmund Hillary at Memorial Arena Monday night, operates the clinic. Here, Mrs. Molly Houston, physiotherapist at the clinic, consoles four youngsters who visited clinic Tuesday. (Times photo.)

STOTT IN THE HOUSE

Victoria's 'David' Takes on Goliaths

GEORGE GREGORY, Victoria's Liberal little David of the Commons by-election campaign, stepped into the House as a speaker yesterday.

He tripped on the threshold with an indelible story that should have been left outside. A whistle of surprise echoed in the chamber. Then Mr. Gregory went on to make a maiden speech that indicated his ability to handle the job ahead of him.

His speech, the first of the day's program, was a scathing attack on the Lands and Forest Minister Robert Sommers. He lectured eloquently on the natural resources of British Columbia and predicted continued development under the Social Credit administration.

The C.C.F.'s cheerful Tony Gargrave had given his views, news and opinions with the discursiveness of a scattergun and no malice.

The galleries were packed as the sitting started. Gradually, as dinner time approached, the spectators thinned down. Still, a lot had come to hear George Gregory. They stayed and were well pleased. Wife Martha agreed it was a "pretty good speech."

As the desk thumping welcome of a full House subsided, Mr. Gregory apologized for his inexperience. He didn't know why he was congratulating Mr. Speaker, but others had and he wanted to congratulate him, too, most sincerely.

Once launched, the thirty-seven-year-old lawyer and native son, who took the brass ring on his first trip on the political merry-go-round, held his hearers. Once or twice subtleties escaped the listeners. But they leaned forward when he said he was a Canadian first, a British Columbian second and a Liberal third—and would rather see a Social Credit administration doing a good job for British Columbia than a Liberal government doing a bad job.

RENDER UNTO CAESAR

Nobody missed the touch when he suggested B.C. would not be in its present prosperous position if it hadn't been, in part, for previous administrations and the Federal government.

His Bible reading—"render unto Caesar those things that are Caesar's" and the parable of the talents pushed the point home.

If he used the clarity and diction of the bar, he had, too, a good humor smile. Speaking of Sacred tax cut promises, he recalled his children had formerly accepted gratefully medicine in a chocolate coating. Now they expected something bitter with the sweet.

Proud of his constituency, he presented garden-grown daffodils to all the members, made a plea for amusement tax exemption on Gyro charity shows, asked departmental help in eliminating sewage flowing into the Gorge from the Wilkinson Road Mental Home and advocated a new Courthouse.

He recalled his father—the late Judge Gregory—looking over plans for a Courthouse that was to be built here prior to his retirement in 1933. Surely there ought to be one built soon.

And though he felt a little embarrassed about asking for a Capital City grant—which he knew was coming—he thought he could stand a half-million dollars' worth of embarrassment this year.

Perhaps it was more hope than faith when he said he'd like to see all members leave politics to the hustings and co-operate for the good of B.C. If they don't, you gathered 'the dapper figure in the dark grey suit and bow tie will be able to look after himself.

The attention given to him was significant. At an hour when spectators and members grow restive, he put across his points clearly and well to an assembly that listened.

B.C. SOCIAL STUDIES

They had already listened for an hour and one-half to Mr. Sommers who was at times a school teacher conducting a class in social studies, at times a politician of growing ability.

The minister said he wanted to give the facts and he quoted statistics. All the hydro potentials of major B.C. rivers were discussed with thousands of horsepower to make your head spin like a turbine. There was, too, a defense of the Social Credit 10 per cent tax on mining—"a shot in the arm to investment and development." And closing came a textbook lesson on forestry administration. Nothing was said about parks, or Sooke Mountain, Mr. Sommers' indirect gift to Victoria.

There were brushes with Liberal Leader Arthur Laing and his colleague Gordon Gibson. The minister remained unruffled. The Premier beamed.

Sandwiched between the two speakers was the C.C.F.'s Tony Gargrave, who looks his years and they aren't many. The young man from Mackenzie spoke feelingly on unemployment, temporary appointees to the labor board whom he thought were quite temporary, and the shooting in the U.S. House of Representatives—if there's any shooting in the Legislature, he hopes the marksmen know on which side the Government sits.

Bright and entertaining, slipping his points across with ability—Mr. Gargrave brought joy to both sides of the House with Gilbert and Sullivan parody on the boy who was apprenticed to a hardware firm.

"He polished up the handles so carefully. That now he is the president of the P.G.E." Mr. Bennett seemed to enjoy it most of all.

Woodworkers Plan Vancouver Meeting

A seven-man delegation from the Victoria local of the International Woodworkers of America (CCL-CIO) will attend a union-sponsored meeting for plywood workers next Sunday in Vancouver.

Purpose of the meeting is to bring about a closer relationship between workers in the plywood line and to place before the union's district council what are considered inequities in this branch of the woodworking industry.

Indian Village Moted For Songhees Reserve

An Indian village, complete with teepees, totem poles and Indian dances, on the Songhees Indian Reserve, was advocated Tuesday by Chief Percy Ross.

The site, said the chief, could be on three or four acres of the reserve and inhabitants could produce totem poles, Indian sweaters and other native wares. For evening entertainment, he suggested native war dances.

The chief feels that this would be a major tourist attraction.

Nehru and Gandhi

MR. NEHRU, THE PRACTICAL statesman, apparently reverts to the theories of Mahatma Gandhi, the mystic, when he attacks the United States' system of foreign alliances.

Angered by the American decision to arm Pakistan (at Pakistan's own urging) the Indian Prime Minister says such plans do not appear to conform to the United Nations Charter. They are not, he believes, "the way either to work the United Nations or fulfill the purposes of the Charter or remove tensions in the world."

Factually this is untrue. The Charter provides for regional defense arrangements like the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe, the Anzus Pact in the Pacific and the present agreement between the United States and Pakistan.

But Mr. Nehru is quite right in believing that the United Nations was not intended by its founders to work in this way. It was founded on the assumption that the great powers would always be united. Hence they were given the right of unilateral veto over the decisions of the Security Council.

The United Nations as devised at Dumbarton Oaks, approved at the Yalta conference and finally codified at San Francisco, never for a moment anticipated the kind of divided world we now inhabit. It could not foresee that Russia, one of the greatest powers, would attempt to disrupt it, to violate its Charter, to embark on open aggression and to inflict the communist imperialism on every weak neighbor.

Getting Ready for What?

THE FIRST PUBLIC STATEMENT Georgi Malenkov made as head of the Soviet state was that he was going to build up "by every means the mighty Soviet armed forces" until they were stronger than ever.

A good many soft words and the "friendly approach" have ensued since then. The West has been treated to samples of the Malenkov method, as contrasted to the Stalin statement. But the overtures and invitations, the apparent easing of the East-West tensions, while welcomed by the democracies, have been viewed as accompaniments, rather than substitutes, for the original Malenkov announcement.

Throughout the period the West has adopted an attitude of "the words are nice but let's see the actions." Now, despite the Malenkov professions, it appears that the mailed fist is still the symbol of Russian intentions; the big stick takes precedence over diplomacy.

The recent celebration of Red Army Day, with the added incentive of patriotism, expressed the basic

Since the collective security of the great powers in unity could not be enforced as intended, the West devised, within the Charter, various regional arrangements. The armament of Pakistan, to build a line of defense across the Mohammedan Near East to the walls of the Himalayas, is an extension of this principle.

What alternative does Mr. Nehru propose in place of these plans? None but an admirable sweetness and light. He should remember that only the lives and treasure of the United States, Britain, Australia, Holland, China and other allies prevented the engulfment of India by Japan in the Second World War. Gandhi, the mystic, was always opposed to military force in any form. He would have preferred to let the Japanese conquer India rather than fight them. His pupil, Mr. Nehru, while no mystic, attempts a neutral policy in the present power struggle.

This is his privilege. As Mr. St. Laurent said in New Delhi the other day, the West cannot question India's right to decide these matters for itself. Assuredly, however, the West cannot afford to follow Gandhi's mysticism at the risk of its own safety and freedom. It must make collective security work as best it may.

It was Russia, not the West, which prevented the United Nations from working as planned. If Mr. Nehru is prepared to trust Russia the West certainly is not. And India is safe today not through its own power but through the power of its Western friends, chiefly of the United States, which Mr. Nehru is attacking and misrepresenting.

thinking of the Kremlin. The old talk of "American imperialists" was revived, the "reactionary circles in the United States and Britain" were castigated, the old lie that the Western allies delayed opening the second front in World War II in order to weaken the U.S.S.R. was brought out.

The Red Army chief of staff went on record with the charge that the U.S. is "preparing a new war against the Soviet Union..." He added that Soviet forces are getting ready for an atomic war.

The Russian defense minister urged the armed forces to increase their vigilance and learn the utmost about modern weapons. A Soviet admiral reminded us that the forces' new weapons are "greatly superior" to those of the last war.

By all accounts Malenkov is carrying out his intentions. And Mr. Molotov's recent demands that the West abandon its NATO and EDC defensive groupings appear, in view of Russian might, like a headman's complaint that the victim will not kneel to facilitate the decapitation.

A Blow at the Drug Traffic

ON THE BASIS OF EVIDENCE placed before it, a Vancouver Assize Court jury has found George Mallock guilty on several narcotics charges. The accused, termed a "kingpin" in a drug ring, has been sentenced to terms totaling 21 years, or 28 if he fails to pay heavy fines.

By its action the Vancouver Assize Court appears to have shown a thorough appreciation of the offenses for which Mallock was tried and convicted. It lays down a pattern of severity against the higher-ups in the narcotics traffic which may well serve as an example in future cases.

Society has come to a clear realization of the loathsome nature of those people who take profit from the drug traffic and by doing so enrich themselves through the destruction of their fellow humans.

Some sympathy is shown for the addict himself. He is a victim of the evil and a medical case. No such sympathy can be extended to those who prey upon the individual's addiction. Their crime enslaves the section of humanity on whose degradation they fatten.

The Vancouver Assize Court has given a sample of the treatment such criminals deserve. It is to be hoped the example will be followed generally in similar cases.

The Two Voices

TWO NEWS ITEMS, PRINTED simultaneously here this week, indicate the divided thinking of the Social Credit party. In Ottawa Mr. Low, the party's national leader, was asking Parliament to adopt drastic measures to prevent a national depression. In Victoria, on the same afternoon, Mr. Sommers, provincial minister of lands and forests, attacked the CCF for talking about the danger of depression. "Let's not beat our gums endlessly about what happened in the hungry thirties," said Mr. Sommers. "If you keep looking backward you'll make progress all right—up the street, off the end of the wharf and drown yourself."

It would clarify politics if the Social Credit party, federal and provincial, could agree on essentials.

Horn of Plenty

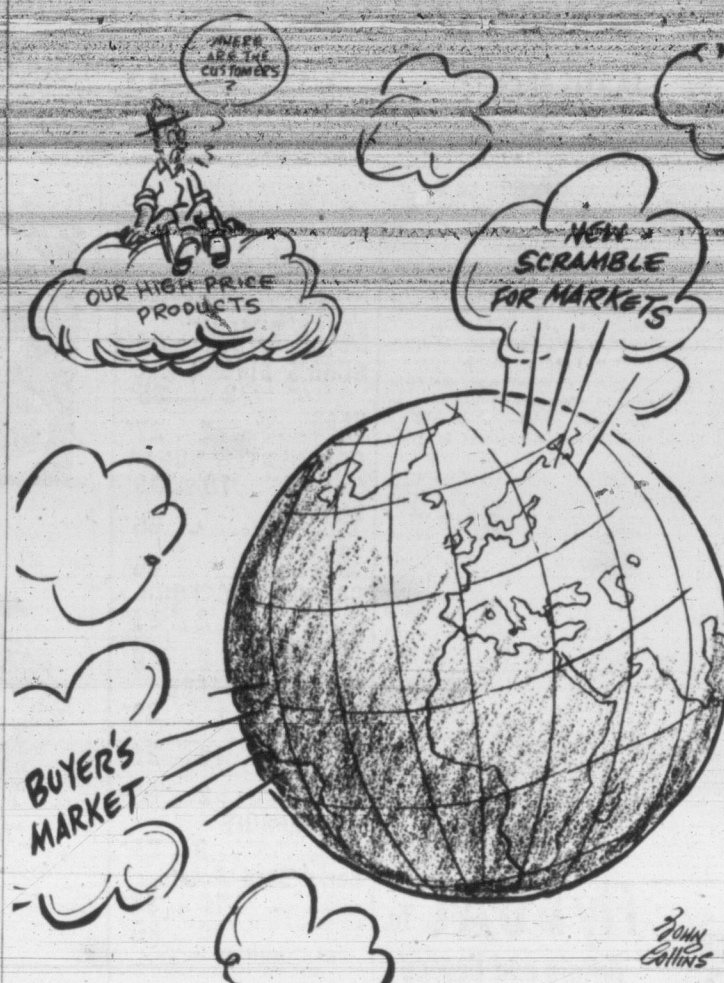

IT IS DIFFICULT TO SAY AT this distance whether the sale of coffee by a number of Toronto jewelry stores is a sarcastic commentary on the rising cost of that commodity or merely an extension of the modern merchandising theory that anything can be sold anywhere and the odder you display the more chance it has of being purchased.

Coffee in a setting of watches, diamond bracelets and engagement rings should occasion no more surprise than men's shirts sold at cigar counters or automobile tires offered for sale in a drug store. Far more astonishing should be a drug store that is not allowed to sell drugs.

But even this latter phenomenon no doubt can be absorbed without shock by the public. Have we not all experienced Ye Olde Gifte Shoppes completely devoid of usable gifts, or restaurants in which a real meal was unobtainable?

It has often been said that a look into a modern North American store would convince any behind-the-curtain citizen that democracy has it all over the "isms." The Toronto move is merely another proof of this. So pile the counters high with coffee and pendants, beans and ice skates, deodorants and fountain pens. We're at the big end of the horn of plenty and we'll have to stack the stuff anywhere room can be found.

Out of This World

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IF you look at your map of the Canadian Arctic, you will see an island marked Borden Island. It is quite near Brock Island, of which I was always very fond, since Stefansson named it after my father... though school-teachers tell my children it was named after General Brock.

Well, it has lately been discovered that Borden Island is really two islands divided by a narrow channel. So the larger half has been taken away from the Conservatives of Borden's day and awarded to a slightly later batch of Liberals.

It occurs to me that when the supply of islands runs out, we could dig canals through islands, already named, and thus create new vacancies for politicians yet unborn. But I hope nobody will subdivide Brock Island. For one thing, my father seldom held a job which allowed him to meddle in politics. (One of his jobs, by the way, was Deputy Minister of Mines at Ottawa, when Templeman was Minister and Benny Nicholas was Templeman's secretary.) And for another thing, my father had so few enemies with whom it would be amusing to share an island.

It was an ancient vessel operator. And he stopped the CBC: "By thy hideous lump of syllables Wherefore miscallst thou me?"

That last line is awkward, certainly. So is the original. It might be presumptuous to tidy it up.

A REGULAR CIRCUS I AGREE with the Performing and Caged Animals Protection League that most circus animals have a thin time. Some animals are too wise to enjoy circuses, and some are too phlegmatic. Perhaps horses and seals enjoy performing; I'd not bet either way. (I am talking about average ones, not exceptional showoffs.)

But when the League says it "has no objection to circuses which feature only human acts," I wonder if it has actually seen such circuses. They sound distinctly unusual. And are circus people really human? Most clowning is sub-human, and is based surprisingly often on cruelty. As for ringmasters, they are pure Simon Legree. They look as if they foreclose mortgages, too.

A GAIN, supposing the League withdrew its gracious permission for human circuses. I wonder what it would do about them? I should love to see it setting the clowns free, and buying the trapeze girls some long woolly bling-bling... and oh, some ear-plugs for the band!

DENNIS THE MENACE

From Our Files

March 3, 1894—Victoria, within a few days, will have a Young Men's Christian Association. This is known after a well-attended meeting last night at which the recent collapse of the work was discussed.

March 3, 1914—The ladies' committee of the Protestant Orphanage was informed at a meeting yesterday afternoon that 74 children were in residence. Two boys were removed and three girls admitted during February.

March 3, 1934—Marriage records hidden away in church vestries for 70 or more years were brought to light last year to assist completion of vital statistics records of the B.C. government, says a report issued today.

As Our Readers See It

MOST ALARMING

The insidious dangers we face of the possibility of Russian Fascist sympathizers infiltrating into key positions in our government, and the fact that these sympathizers are not only in the government but also in the public, is most alarming to any loyal citizen who has studied the facts and is really thinking.

The Beatrice Fernyhough and Marshall cases are examples of this. Due to the fact that the Beatrice Fernyhough public she lasted only 24 hours in the job as director of all of B.C. Junior Red Cross which embraces 125,000 B.C. youngsters. She was recommended and passed for the position by a U.B.C. professor even though he knew her to be an L.P.P. candidate in the last federal election. Subsequently it was shown that she served three months in a Regina jail for subversive conduct in 1941 when we were fighting Hitler and Stalin was his ally.

Mr. Marshall stated February 4, 1934, after being with Endicott's Peace Congress as a delegate for three years that in his opinion "they were not Communist" nor did he regret his association with (1947-1951) or now repudiate the Communists.

These persons had become "highly qualified" at our expense in Canadian universities for what?

Frankly speaking, it is about time our people individually declare themselves for or against the Red Communist Fascists. It can happen here; tomorrow may be too late.

HAVE THEY READ...?

If Mrs. Loughheed would make herself more cognizant of the requirements of a person on a library board, many people would have more patience with her. As it is, her incapacity has gone too far; as witness the extreme lack of insight into intellectual in her letter to the Victoria Daily Times of February 24.

She does not know what she is getting at. She has offered an apology for something which she does not know she has committed. She has vague, troubled thoughts about having said something wrong and she does not know what she has said. She talks about contexts!

What she has committed is the unpardonable mistake of telling people what they ought not to read when she does not know what the very books she condemns contain. Has she read one of them? Has Mayor Harrison? And Mr. Murdoch?

Mrs. Loughheed has tried to slide out of the responsibility for the statement "downrodden." In the first place, some weeks ago she apparently used it arrogantly. And in the second place, she was pointing out that it was pointed out to her, apparently, what a faux pas she had made.

THE FOOD PROBLEM

I do not wish to appear as a prophet of doom; but facts must be faced. While we are tearing each other's hair out by the roots over the library issue, or the color of the bunting which, at times, floats above the Parliament Buildings, the spectre of famine is striding towards us over vast continents and may, at any time, be upon us.

In the meantime let us hope that science may find an easier method of growing food, or a substitute for the same. The director general of the UN Technical Assistance Administration has this to say: "Last year there was a net gain of 20 millions in the population of the world" (that is 75,000 daily increase). He suggests, as the only solution to this gigantic problem, a drastic birth control; even the use of physical restraint for those who object to such measures.

The managing editor of the Farm Quarterly says: "Farmers and ranchers face an urgent problem: how to accelerate food production so that it will keep pace with the ever-growing population. Crop land expansion has about reached its limit. In fact, during the last 10 years much tillable land has been lost to cities, highways, airports and erosion." Also: "Canada lost nearly a quarter of her farm labor force between 1941 and 1951. Land under cultivation is also declining; in one five-year period farms representing 2,000,000 acres were abandoned or turned to other uses." Yet, in spite of such statements, we are discouraging our dairy men, who will, in all kinds of weather, herd their cattle into a barn, milk them and peddle their products from door to door. Could madness go further?

I believe in immigration, but not to the cities of Canada to take jobs away from our own people, but to open up our rich northlands and produce food for an impoverished world.

Since 1940 the U.S. population has increased by 19.5 millions. Canada's rate of increase is much higher. The population growth is further stimulated by a greatly decreased mortality rate.

Postscript to Dr. Alvarez

In your issue of February 22nd, Dr. Alvarez deals with the various treatments of shingles, or better known to the medical profession as herpes zoster. A while ago, a national magazine gave a feature article on this affliction, and while outlining the hopelessness of any cure at this time, also left no word of comfort or relief for the sufferer.

As a layman, I was a bit more than mildly astonished to note that Dr. Alvarez made no mention of relief from the agony of shingles. Well I know what it is, having had such some years ago. My chest was covered with collodion, and myself well armed with a prescription for "loaded" aspirin, my doctor wished me the best for the two or three-week course. About the third day (or night) had conditions had become much worse, any sleep about impossible.

I discovered relief, and at this time I would feel quite remiss as a citizen if I did not pass on what I found, for what it is worth.

Every home has it, or should have it: water, warm water. In desperation, I took a warm bath, deep, up to the ears, and relaxed in it until it cooled off. The result, to me, was wonderful and relaxing. I could enjoy a meal and also go to work. The fine effect would wear off after about four hours. Such a bath, taken about every four or five hours, allowed me to do the full course of about 20 days with quite a modicum of comfort. Asking some people to take five baths a day may be going too far, but the end result seems to be worth it.

It might be well to keep in mind that those who have already had some X-ray treatment would not be able to use such water therapy. There is a possibly dangerous reaction to the X-ray, and medical men will warn against it.

Other than that, I would certainly recommend what I have found to be so successful, and it is my sincere hope that early and quick relief will be enjoyed by some of the many sufferers even now in our midst.

Leave It to Him

From the Manchester Guardian

WHEN Mr. Gladstone was 83 and showing what many of his contemporaries thought was a most reprehensible reluctance to retire, Lord Randolph Churchill said cynically, "Mr. G. will be in his prime somewhere about the middle of the next century." Here we are at the middle of the next century and the pack is in full cry again.

Queen Victoria rallied against her two most internationally respected ministers—Palmerston and Russell—as the "two dreadful old men."

Sir Winston Churchill must have been getting some ironical satisfaction out of the thought that the only two great prime ministers before him to be assailed for being past their work were Palmerston and Gladstone, both of whom at over 80 showed more vigor than most other first ministers 20 years their junior.

He is not, perhaps, as nimble on his feet as Palmerston, who used to climb up railings to see if he was losing his agility, or Gladstone, who was knocked down by a cow in Hawarden Park and said nothing about it until at dinner someone mentioned that there was a strange cow wandering about. "Oh, yes," he said, "I met it and it knocked me down."

TOUGH OLD MEN

These dreadful old men are tough, as anyone who has crossed swords with the Prime Minister in the House in the last week or two knows. Sir Winston may not do spectacular physical feats any longer, but there does not appear yet to be much wrong with his brain and he can still fire a rifle.

Why then all the fuss and the yapping? What has Sir Winston done to let down either the country or his party? He is not at loggerheads with any of his ministers nor, as were Palmerston and Gladstone, with his Queen. He can write a better state paper, and make a better speech than any of his ministers.

He is not done for yet, though obviously the question of retirement must be always in his mind. He has a high public conscience and, like Gladstone, he is not the man to persist when he is sharply falling. Where does the pressure come from?

This is hardly a cabinet bursting with potential prime ministers. Palmerston had an even abler successor pressing on behind him—Gladstone. Gladstone had at his heels Rosebery, Harcourt, Morley, to say nothing of Asquith and others—all abler than all but one or two of the present cabinet.

Who is in the line? There is no pretence among the critics that Mr. Eden is not the successor-designate, with Mr. Butler as runner-up. Why the urgency to get the old man out of the way? Mr. Eden is worthy enough but hardly a man of force. Sir Winston, for all his supposed senility, has still more dynamism and fire.

PRETTY BARE FIELD

It is not pretended that Mr. Butler can yet hope to push aside Mr. Eden, although he would probably be the abler prime minister. Mr. Eden has a job to do which may occupy him some months. (Here again, if he becomes prime minister what Tory can become foreign secretary? It is a pretty bare field.)

Sir Winston has still something to contribute towards the guidance of foreign policy from his store of wisdom. Why try to force him out?

Of course, Sir Winston will not be in his Gladstonian, or Palmerstonian prime for ever. Probably he will not try to break the astounding records of these dreadful old men. But he is wise enough to know when to retire.

He has acquired in the mellowness of his later years a fine sense of timing. He will go out with a flourish and with honor. Why not leave it to him to choose the occasion?

THE BEAUTY ABOUT US

A happy awareness of the beauty about us should and could be with us all always. "The beauty about us," that is, the beauty of country, town and village, the normal visible setting of our ordinary everyday lives, the common things we make or buy or use, all of which should and could have a homely beauty all their own to be more constantly enjoyed than any shut up in galleries and museums. We must learn actively to use and enjoy art, not merely to render it a superstitious homage, timidly propitiating beauty by keeping it safe from any real contact with our lives in highly-disciplined asylums under uniformed attendants.

The Captain Was Below

THE GREATEST political decisions of the Eisenhower administration are quite likely to be made behind President Eisenhower's back. The final proof of this curious state of affairs was given by the start to finish of the McCarthy-Stewart imbroglio.

One thing, however, Eisenhower has not done. He has not yet assumed the national political leadership that is the highest of all the many functions of the President. The political problems of the President are the problems most foreign to his own past experience. He does not feel at home with them. He still allows even the biggest political decisions to be made by other men, who he regards as experts in the dark political art.

The group that has been making these decisions is increasingly discernible. The Attorney-General belongs to it, and so does his political assistant, William Rogers. The chief figures in Congress are the chairman of the Senatorial and Congressional campaign committees, Senator Dirksen and Representative Simpson. The most active member in the White House itself is the Congressional Liaison Officer, Wilton D. Persons.

All these busy little people have one thing in common. They think that Senator McCarthy will win the 1954 election for the Republican party. Representative Simpson nicely expressed their view, in reply to a question about reports of Democratic gains in many states.

"Well," he said, "we've got one thing the Democrats haven't got." The questioner was just about to say, "I suppose you mean Ike's great popularity." But Simpson got in first. "I mean McCarthy," he explained.

Holding this view, this group is always anxious to appease and imitate the Wisconsin Senator. On the two major occasions above-noted, they have done so without the President's knowledge and against his wishes. The question is, how long this kind of thing will continue.

Eisenhower is beginning to realize that when his subordinates build up McCarthy, they are building up the worst enemy of the Eisenhower administration. He is perhaps too modest to see how foolish it is to rely on McCarthy's type of appeal, instead of on his own great strength in the country. But the whole squalid business is obviously making him more and more uneasy. Maybe he will really take control himself. If he does not, the troubles of last week will soon recur.

Dwight D. Eisenhower clearly brought to the White House a rather routine officer's conception of the Presidency. He has had to learn and in his first 14 months in office, he has come a very long way.

One thing, however, Eisenhower has not done. He has not yet assumed the national political leadership that is the highest of all the many functions of the President. The political problems of the President are the problems most foreign to his own past experience. He does not feel at home with them. YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Cigar and Pipe Smokers

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A man says he is a heavy smoker of cigars, and his brother always has a pipe in his mouth. They want to know what dangers they run.

I think they run little danger of getting cancer of the lung because they do not inhale and hence do not get the dangerous smoke tar into their bronchi. They can get much nicotine into their system, just as can the heavy smoker of cigarettes, but the nicotine probably serves mainly to injure the arteries of the body. Nicotine has the remarkable faculty of being able to go quickly through even the unbroken skin, and hence it must go easily through the mucous lining of the mouth.

I remember a man who worked in a factory in which nicotine was being made to be used as a spray to kill bugs. One day he sat down on a stool with a concave top which held a small pool of nicotine. As soon as the liquid had soaked through his overalls, he fell over onto the floor, black in the face and apparently dead. Rushed to the hospital, undressed, and put to bed, he soon recovered, and felt so well that he got up to go back to work. He put on his damp trousers and, again, absorbing the nicotine, he went into shock.

The aromatic chemicals in tobacco go through into the body of the heavy cigar or pipe smokers tend to reek of tobacco, and their whole body gives off the odor, and I have read that, in the old days, cannibals objected to eating heavy smokers because their flesh tasted bad!

IT KILLED FREUD
One of the dangers run by the cigar or pipe smoker is that he may get a cancer of the tongue or of the cheek. Some persons may remember that Freud, who was a heavy cigar smoker, got a cancer of the mouth which eventually pulled him down. Many a pipe smoker gets a cancer of the lip at the spot where he carries his pipe, and many get a cancer of the tongue in the region where the hot smoke strikes.

To learn how a local irritant to the tissues can produce cancer, one need only go into a hospital in those parts of the Orient where practically every one chews betel nut, which is an irritant much like pepper. There, one finds that cancer of the cheek, in the area where the little cud of nut and lime is carried, is very common; it is immensely more common in the East than it is in the West, where the people do not chew betel nut.

Dr. W. J. Mayo used to say that in parts of the Orient where people eat their rice boiling-hot the men often get a cancer at the back of the throat where it is constantly being irritated. The women don't get so much of this type of cancer because they eat at second table after the men are done; and their rice has had a chance to cool! The Japanese get a cancer of the skin of the abdominal wall where for years they have carried a little warming-box containing hot charcoal.

In Europe it has long been known that chimney sweeps, whose skin is always covered with soot, commonly get skin cancer. Also, people who work in factories where paraffin is made, get skin cancers. Years ago a Japanese physician patiently, each day, painted a little tar on the skin of a mouse until the chemical produced a cancer. Later, chemists fractionated the tar until they isolated and identified the substance responsible for producing the cancer. Now we know that this substance is in tobacco smoke.

Years ago, in England, someone showed that the poor people who could never afford much dental work, and hence lived for much of their life with a mouth full of infected gums and snags of teeth, had much more cancer of the mouth, throat, and gullet than did wealthier people who had a clean mouth.

One of the most interesting discoveries to come out of the DuPont laboratories was announced recently by N. W. Flodin. He told of the synthesis, or the putting together chemically, of certain amino acids which are the building blocks of those proteins which, in certain foods, are so essential to the building of our tissues. Already one of these amino acids is being produced on a commercial scale for use in feeding poultry. It will supply part of the nitrogen so essential in a diet. Flodin predicted that some day synthetic amino acids may form an important addition to our food supply.

A new medical group, called the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine, has recently been informed with the hope that it will help to humanize the practice of medicine, and to cause more doctors to treat their patients as well as the patients' diseases. It is to be hoped that the new society will do some good.

Dr. Alvarez regrets he hasn't the time in which to read or answer requests for information.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Gregory Warns Against Increase in Sales Tax

No Cure for BCHIS, Dangerous Politics, Victoria Liberal MLA Tells House

An increase in the B.C. sales tax is no cure for the provincial hospital insurance headache and might upset the political digestion of the administration, warned George Gregory (Lib., Victoria) in his maiden speech in the legislature Tuesday.

"The average citizen pays the sales tax half a dozen times a day," he said. "If this is increased to 5 per cent, the public will be calling it the Bennett tax half a dozen times a day."

The original sales tax of 3 per cent, brought in during the Coalition regime, was generally known as the Anscomb tax, named for the then-finance minister.

Mr. Gregory recalled, moreover, that Premier Bennett had branded the sales tax unfair, a millstone around the neck of the Coalition government, amongst whose members he then sat in the House.

Referring to the so-called double system of premium payments, he said a man hired in January who had already paid six months in advance would have another six months' premiums deducted by his employer; whereas a man hired in June would pay only one advance premium.

INJUSTICE

He called this an "injustice." But Mr. Gregory said the people of B.C. considered BCHIS worthwhile, and if double payment was removed people would be satisfied with the scheme as it stands.

He opposed replacement of premiums by sales tax increases.

If an additional sales tax were brought in to pay for hospital insurance, it would no longer be insurance. Insurance, he said, must link risk with premiums. A tax would not do this.

BIBLE REFERENCE

Picking up a Bible, he said: "I am not yet convinced that the Bible gives any basis for Social Credit theories," said Mr. Gregory. He put on his glasses and

FATHER, SON PLUG FOR COURTHOUSE

A new courthouse is needed for Victoria, George Gregory (Lib.-Victoria) said Tuesday. He said his father, who retired from the bench in 1933, had been plugging for it, and architects had looked into the matter then.

"Since then . . . my father has died, and I've grown up to be old enough to take my place in the Legislature. Still nothing has been done."

read from the Bible: "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

He said he had come to the Legislature expecting the 47 members to be sincere, but took exception to Reg. Charles Parker's (SC—Peace River) references to the Bible as "finding comfort for Social Credit theories."

The reasons, said Mr. Gregory, that Social Credit theories did not work were:

1. That the Social idea of producing money without bullion backing would destroy the balance of the economic system;
 2. In a system where distributing power was available to everyone, all sorts of useless products would be manufactured; and
 3. Material worth could not always be judged in terms of business of manufacture.
- How could work of creative value, from lawyers, writers and similar occupations, be judged as to purchasing power? he asked.

Gargrave Urges Williston for Education Post

Scores Criticism Of School System

Saanich School J. D. T. Tisdale was censured Tuesday for a recent criticism of the school system by Anthony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie), who said "that sort of thing does not bring credit."

Mr. Tisdale had "the ear of the government," Mr. Gargrave said, and if he had any complaints, the government was the logical place to register them, not on the floor of the legislature.

"Such attacks undermine confidence," he said. B.B.'s school system was the best in Canada, claimed Mr. Gargrave. He threw his support behind a mounting opposition demand for appointment of Ray Williston (SC, Fort George) as education minister.

At present Attorney-General Robert Bonner also holds the education portfolio.

"When Mr. Williston becomes minister of education, he will probably be the first to have been appointed by the opposition," said Mr. Gargrave.

MILK POLICY HIT

On milk, Mr. Gargrave said the government was willing to take a calculated risk and "destroy the fabric of orderly marketing" to try and give "phony" Social Credit dividends.

He charged the government was trying to win votes with decontrol—"cheap" milk.

He said the agriculture minister had tried to "hoodwink" the people at the expense of the dairy farmers.

The B.C. coast's steamship service also came in for comment. The Mackenzie MLA said he believed the government should show more concern in the matter.

He termed the service "inadequate."

COSTLY FUMBLE

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—A farmer at Tonkin near here accidentally shot 14 of his own chickens. Hearing a suspicious noise in the hen-house, he grabbed a shotgun to investigate. As he opened the door, his dog nudged his hand and the gun discharged.

HE'S WILLING TO BLUSH FOR $500,000 GRANT

A half-million dollar capital city grant in lieu of taxes? That's what Liberal MLA George Gregory seems to expect from the government.

"Premier Bennett has promised a grant to be included in the budget, but he has not indicated the amount."

Tuesday in the House Mr. Gregory said the grant was "long overdue" and added: "If I suggest a large amount it implies criticism of the former government. I'm torn between loyalty for my Liberal Party and loyalty to my constituents. But I think I could stand about a half-million dollars worth of embarrassment."

Canadian Ambassador Welcomed at Moscow

MOSCOW (CP)—John B. C. Watkins arrived today as Canada's first ambassador to Russia since 1946.

Commonwealth diplomats headed by Sir William Hayter, British ambassador, the dean of the diplomatic corps, Sweden's ambassador Suhlman and the chief of protocol at the Soviet foreign office turned out in Moscow's heaviest snowfall of the winter to welcome the 51-year-old bachelor diplomat.

Robert Ford, formerly of London, Ont., who relieved Watkins as charge d'affaires in 1951, leaves tonight for Canada.

Watkins, formerly Canadian minister to Norway and Iceland, is fluent in the Russian language and also is an accomplished musician.

The post of Soviet ambassador to Canada, similarly vacant since 1946, was also announced.

Assisting in the program will be Mrs. F. D. Till, pianist; Grace Beswick, violinist; Muriel Filby, pianist, and Mr. Edwards, organist.

COURTENAY—District Kinsmen will launch a one-day "bottle drive" here Sunday in aid of local charities.

Robert Salter, campaign chairman, said the drive will get under way at 9 a.m. and Kinsmen hope to cover Courtenay and Comox during the day. Last year more than 1,900 dozen saleable bottles were collected, netting $500 for the polio fund.

COURTENAY—This city will be showered with "bombs" by four-engined Lancaster bombers at 2 p.m. Friday but not before seven short blasts on the fire sirens are given to warn residents of the opening of the Red Cross campaign for a quota of $4,000.

Exact details of the operation "Red Cross Raid" are being kept secret by campaign headquarters.

PORT ALBERNI—One of Port Alberni's most colorful pioneers died here Monday. He was George Hubert Bird, 88, who arrived in Alberni in 1892 in a 40-foot steamer, and later managed the first paper mill here.

Mr. Bird was a member of the group which petitioned the government to incorporate the city in 1911, and served on the first city council.

Funeral services will be held in St. Alban's Anglican Church Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

All-Black Visit Recalls Great Day of the Roaring 20's

Nostalgic memories of Victoria's past will be revived next week when the New Zealand All-Blacks, rated the greatest rugby exponents in the world, appear here. All-Blacks will meet Victoria Crimson Tide

Tuesday afternoon at 4 at Macdonald Park. One of the greatest hours in Victoria's sports history occurred when the powerful All-Blacks appeared here in 1925, swamping a local team before 10,000 rabid fans. These old pictures, supplied by Col. Bob Travis, capture the magic of that great game. At left, a New Zealand player hugs the ball and attempts to skirt around Victoria's fullback, Byron "Boss" Johnson, who moves in for the tackle. At right is part of the crowd of 10,000 that jammed the old Willow's ground to see the game.

Top-Rated Rinks Meet In Crucial Brier Game

Sports

Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1954

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

EDMONTON—The flit mignons were as tender as the curling was exciting and exciting here Tuesday as the MacDonald Brier bonspiel went through its second of five days. And the social wheel continued to whirl for the 11 championship rinks before they settle down today to weeding the men from the boys at the Edmonton Gardens.

It was the annual Dominion Curling Association banquet at the Hotel Macdonald Tuesday night and the odds were even between courses, that Alberta would march through to the title.

The Matt Baldwin-skipped rink Tuesday won its fourth straight game in a stubborn test against little Prince Edward Island, after lacing poor Manitoba. But the Albertans haven't an easy road ahead today. This afternoon they meet the almost forgotten rink from Northern Ontario which really hasn't been severely tested in winning four games.

British Columbia is next on the Baldwin schedule tonight and Bung Cartmell, after a seemingly disastrous start against Northern Ontario has bounced back into contention with two straight victories. Cartmell's 11-10 victory over Ontario Tuesday was one of the highlights of the afternoon series of matches. Trailing 10-5 at the eighth end, Cartmell scored on the last four ends, climaxing his comeback with two in the 12th.

Bluenosers Supplied the Thrills

Still, British Columbia was forced to concede that Nova Scotia's thrilling triumph over Saskatchewan was easily the most tense moment in this year's bonspiel history to date.

Victims of three earlier defeats, the Bluenosers were given little chance against Garnet Campbell and his three brothers from Avonlea. But Garnet was only an ordinary skip Tuesday and a costly miss in the third end gave Nova Scotia four and a 5-1 lead. Grimly Nova Scotia attempted to maintain this advantage only to see the Campbells, even more grim, finally forge to the front on the 11th end. As the climax came two rocks were side by side on the button with Saskatchewan a half an inch to the good. Garnet Campbell then froze to the Nova Scotia rock and victory seemed certain. More so it seemed that Nova Scotia had been outlucked when Scotia skip Reg Piercy was wide and heavy on his first rock. Campbell then attempted to guard the button but failed by inches. Only a narrow point was left for Piercy to draw through. But as his rock left his hand three Wes-Burge became so excited that at first he tried to put the broom to his mouth instead of his cigarette, all the while shouting "yeah, yeah, yeah." Piercy drew the opening and scored two and with the clinching shot, high in the air went the Nova Scotia brooms.

And There Are Heartbreaks, Too

There was little sadness, except on the Manitoba rink itself, in the first extra end match on the Brier with New Brunswick handing Manitoba its third straight defeat. Earlier in the day, Alberta had scored a convincing win over the Deer Lodge rink. Here again the losing rink appeared to have the game won only to admit defeat when Skip Dick McCully drew inside Jimmy Welsh's rock lying on the inner ring.

Like the three-eyed sportsman who had the crowd watching the hockey game with one eye on the goalkeeper, one eye on the player coming down the ice and one eye on the clock, Tuesday's play had the crowd in a dither. They would turn their attention to another match for a moment only to miss a spectacular shot on yet another sheet. Naturally the Alberta-P.E.I. match commanded the most local attention and it was strictly a game of knockout from the start. The first rink to make a mistake would be the loser and it was unfortunate in a sense that the lot of making this error fell to Dr. W. L. MacDonald of P.E.I. The break came on the ninth end with Alberta leading 4-3. MacDonald had a bitter on the front ring and Alberta was lying two, with the rocks ideally placed for a double knockout. MacDonald took the gamble and lost this rock when it went between the two Alberta rocks—with only a fraction of an inch to spare.

Ice-Makers Get Plaudits

The ice at the Gardens, reported as "swinging" during Monday's opening matches, was pronounced perfect on Tuesday. Jimmy Welsh, who had lost three games for Manitoba said "It is the best ice on which I have curled." Crowds have been a disappointment to Brier officials, the reasons obviously being the red flannel weather conditions and the draw which has seen pre-bonspiel favorites meeting in early matches.

There is a letter on file with the D.C.A. requesting consideration of Victoria as a future bonspiel site. However, the wording is rather indefinite. A suggestion to the wise would be to file another letter as soon as possible asking for a definite year (say 1957 or 1958). It is on good authority that no action will be taken unless this is done. Full particulars must be included in the application. Novices will be pleased to hear that even the champions make mistakes... three times already in the Brier, wrong rocks have been thrown... one chap even swept the wrong rock, if just for a second.

N. Ontario, Alberta Undefeated

EDMONTON (CP)—Two undefeated rinks meet today in what may prove to be the crucial game of the 1954 Canadian curling championships.

Alberta, skipped by 27-year-old Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, meets Northern Ontario, skipped by Don Groom of Sudbury, in the fifth round of the championships.

Both rinks boast four straight victories. Baldwin holds decisions over Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Northern Ontario has defeated British Columbia, Newfoundland, Ontario and Quebec.

Both rinks lean strongly to the drawing game and observers are looking for the best match of the five-day bonspiel.

Alberta scored its third and fourth victories Tuesday, defeating Manitoba 12-7 on the opening draw and edging Prince Edward Island 9-5 on the second draw of the day.

Northern Ontario defeated Ontario, previously undefeated, 10-8 in the first draw Tuesday and walloped Quebec 14-7 in the second round.

In other games Tuesday: New Brunswick defeated Nova Scotia 14-11 in the first round and edged Manitoba 8-7 in an extra end in the second round; Prince Edward Island edged Quebec 11-8 and then lost 9-5 to Alberta; British Columbia defeated Newfoundland 10-7 and then edged Ontario 11-10.

DROP CLOSE DECISION

Saskatchewan, which had a bye on the first round, dropped an 11-10 decision to Nova Scotia in one of the best games of the day. Newfoundland had the bye in the second round.

British Columbia and New Brunswick, who had both byes in earlier draws, have two victories and one loss apiece. Grouped behind them with 2-2 records are Ontario and Prince Edward Island. Saskatchewan, which also had a bye, has one win against two losses. Manitoba, Quebec and Nova Scotia have 1-3 records and Newfoundland has three straight losses.

Nova Scotia, skipped by Reg Piercy of Halifax, went against Saskatchewan Campbell brothers rink Tuesday in the best game of the day.

Pins Fly in Doubles Play

Scores were high in the Capital City Bowladrome's third annual 10-game doubles tourney which concluded last week end.

Of the 64 competitors who participated in the event, 15 averaged over 230 per game scratch and 37 scores over the 300 mark were turned in.

Big winners were Ian Lockhead and Bob Elliott, who rolled a combined 5,175 total to sweep first place, 38 pins up on second-place Gordie Ball and George Dean at 5,137.

Other doubles prize winners were Bill McKinnon and Gerry Lawrence, 5,097; Dave Doolittle and Fred Mair, 5,046; Wilf Smith and Bud Baldwin,

HUGE CROWD EXPECTED TO SEE TROTTERS PLAY

Local sports history may be made tonight at Memorial Arena.

The largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Victoria is expected to jam the arena to see Abe Saperstein's touring troupe that includes the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters, Toledo Mercuries, Boston Whirlwinds and a half-time vaudeville act.

Jack Phillon, president of the sponsoring Victoria Kinsmen Club, said today that over 4,000 tickets have been sold for the event and expects more to go before game time.

A free-throw contest, with one competitor from each team participating, will be held. A prize and a trophy will be awarded to the winner.

Globetrotters will meet Mercuries at 9 and Victoria Kins take on Boston Whirlwinds in the first game at 8.

Alberni Rates as Tournament Choice

Alberni High School will be back in Victoria this week-end to try and retain the Vancouver Island high school basketball crown in the annual Island hoop tournament in Victoria High School gym.

Alberni has won the island crown three times. While slightly favored in the tournament, they may find Porky Andrews' Victoria High School Totems a tougher proposition than in the past.

Tournament gets underway at 1 p.m. Friday at the gym. Eight teams have entered and there will be almost continuous action on the gym floor Friday afternoon and night and the following afternoon and night.

Victoria Times Trophy will be awarded to the boy selected as the most valuable player in the tournament. Colistat goes to the tournament winner.

Earlier in the season the Vic High Totems defeated Alberni by a 30-point margin here. However, in a return game on Alberni's home floor Andrews' charges suffered a defeat. Alberni High School is reported to have improved greatly since its last meeting with Victoria.

Vic High's chances may hinge on the condition of high-scoring bucket-man Eddie Pedersen. The lanky Totem centre suffered a badly bruised shin-bone recently and may be forced to miss the tournament, a crippling blow to the Vic High squad as Pedersen is their top scorer and best rebounder.

SWEDISH GIANT

Lou Stoberg will be in one of the two main events on Thursday night's wrestling card at the Victoria Ballroom. He will meet Dave Jones of London, Eng., in a best-of-three falls match. Al Fridell and Bud Rutland, from Seattle and Vancouver, respectively, will battle in the second main event. Opener at 8:30 brings together Big Bob Hannon, Washington, and Keith Hollett, Victoria.

JACKSON CUP SOCCER AWAY SATURDAY

Esquimalt, leaders of the Victoria and District Football Association, and Civil Service, locked in the third berth with Canadian Scottish, meet next Saturday afternoon in a first round Jackson Cup match. It will be played at Royal Athletic Park.

Two Sunday league games will bring together Victoria West and Wood Motors at Lower Beacon Hill and Heaney and Canadian Scottish at Heywood Avenue. All games will start at 2:30.

4 Canadians Qualify in Texas Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (CP)—Four of the five Canadians entered in the $30,000 Texas Open golf tournament qualified Tuesday.

Johnny Hendrick of Ottawa led the Canadians with a one-under-par 71 on the 7,122-yard Memorial Park course. Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., and Murray Tucker of Toronto carded par 72's while Al Balding of Toronto had 74. Johnny Kay of Montreal failed to qualify with an 80.

Five players took three strokes off par to share medalist honors. Carding 69's were Don Shock, Columbus, Ohio; Buster Red, Dallas; Loddie Kempa, Kansas City, O.; Billy Capps, Greenville, S.C. and Earl Jacobson, Victoria, Texas.

England Wins Third Test in Cricket Series

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (CP)—England won the third test cricket match with the West Indies Tuesday and kept alive its chances in the best-of-five series. The West Indies won the first two matches.

England won by nine wickets for its first victory over the West Indies since 1935. England scored 435 runs in the first innings and finished with 75 for one. The West Indies had 251 and 256.

So far in the series the team to win the toss has won the match. This time England was able to build up a commanding lead. Then Brian Statham's magnificent bowling when the West Indies began its first innings proved the turning point, and the home side never recovered.

Thereafter every member of the England side took part in producing the final result and Johnny Wardle's bowling Tuesday was almost the last blow against the West Indies.

LONG REPLACED BY REARDON

MONTREAL (BUP)—Kenny Reardon, the Montreal Canadiens' ambassador-at-large, took over the Kit-chener-Waterloo Greenhorns in the Ontario Junior Hockey League today.

Reardon succeeded Stan Long who was suspended for a year for taking his team from the ice during a scheduled game.

Reardon filled a similar role last season when the Canadiens sent him to Cincinnati to coach the Mohawks, in mid-season after Buddy O'Connor became ill. The Mohawks later won the International League championship.

Nanaimo Juniors Take Four-Goal Series Lead

Nanaimo hockey juniors are four goals ahead in their fight for the Vancouver Island championship.

Nanaimo Tuesday night at Memorial Arena defeated Victoria Junior All-Stars in the opening game of their two-game, total-goal series, 6-2, by uncorking a sizzling third-period attack on the Victoria goal that netted four goals.

Score was locked at 1-1 at the end of the first period and was 2-2 at the end of the second period. Victoria went scoreless in the final period, while Nanaimo sniped four goals.

All-Blacks Will Stir Memories

By ROY THORSEN

New Zealand's fabulous All-Blacks, while the world's foremost English rugby players, have never found the fighting spirit of Victoria ruggers lacking in all their visits here during the 20th century.

The Blacks will be back again for their fourth Victoria appearance of this century next Tuesday afternoon at Macdonald Park and expect the same determined spirit they've encountered in the past against Victoria ruggers.

In turning back the pages of time we find that the vaunted team from Down Under came to Victoria on Feb. 18, 1925, with the intention of building up the biggest score of their Empire-wide tour of 1924-25.

They did that, amassing 68 points. They hoped it would be a shutout, and that's where Wally Brynjolfson, now principal of Monterey School, Oak Bay, balked them. It was Wally's famous drop-kick goal that saved Victoria from a total blanking in the historic game, which attracted 10,000 to the Willows fair grounds oval, the largest crowd to ever congregate here for a local outdoor sports attraction.

Many of the players of the Victoria side of that day are dead or have moved from this sector, but several are still in circulation here.

Probably the most prominent person in the 1925 game on the Victoria side is the man who rose to become British Columbia's premier, Byron "Boss" Johnson, fullback.

Victoria Times' sports writers of that year reported on the game: "Showing all the dazzling speed that has made them the talk of three continents, but still unable to keep a plucky team of Canadians from scoring against them, New Zealand All-Blacks literally crushed the Victoria Rep team yesterday afternoon by the overwhelming score of 68-4."

The report added "but despite the visitors' determination to sweep Victoria from the field and hopelessly squash all opposition picked from this city, they met with a smashing defensive and a tireless, unshaken show of courage." "Our visitors were all set to build their biggest score yet in their tour at Victoria's expense. Actually, they did, but did not reckon on Victoria scoring at all."

"From the toe of Wally Brynjolfson, the tawny three-quarter, came the sole of the defeated team. The fair-haired giant drove the ball between the All-Blacks' posts from 35 yards out... a kick considered the best field goal ever scored on a Victoria field," the Times reported.

Brynjolfson, the man who saved Victoria from a shutout 30 years ago, had this to say about the Victoria opposition to invading teams: "If we had the same team as we had in 1925—Ferguson, Doug Willard and Bill Halkett—I think we could have put up a great show against the Blacks."

"We thought we were good but found New Zealand out of our class," said the 1925 forward, Col. Bob Travis, former commander of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's).

"The All-Blacks proved their value as a team—working in the scrum like a machine and the way they unselfishly handled the ball," he said.

"Visiting sporting teams are the best public relations you can possibly build up between nations," was the comment of Brynjolfson.

20 MILLION HP POTENTIAL

B.C. Can Develop 800% More Power

Explorations are under way in B.C. that could result in billions of dollars in long-term development of hydro-electric power and dependent industries.

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers Tuesday told the Legislature this province has a potential of 20,000,000 horsepower, more than eight times the potential of existing plants and those under construction.

In the Throne Speech debate, the minister revealed that 1,400,000 horsepower now is available with another 1,000,000 under construction.

New construction included 100,000 horsepower by the B.C. Electric Co.; 60,000 by the B.C. Power Commission; 400,000 by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co.; 420,000 by Alcan.

In possible future developments he noted a potential output in the Fraser River of 4,300,000 horsepower; dam slated for Lillooet, Moran, Cottonwood and Sinclair Mills for a total cost of $800,000,000; and a division from Chilko Lake to Bute Inlet which would boost lower mainland horsepower by 800,000.

FLOOD CONTROL

This development would eliminate the Fraser flood menace, he said.

Mr. Sommers said the B.C. Power Commission was proceeding with developments on the Clearwater river, a subsidiary of the North Thompson.

The government is encouraging construction of a pulp mill near Prince George, he said.

Such a mill, functioning, would justify a $60,000,000 development of the potential 285,000 horsepower at Clearwater, he said.

This would also control flooding of the North and South Thompson.

On the Columbia, waterpower available warranted tremendous installations.

He touched also on the recently announced Mica Creek development, repeating the $425,000,000 dam cost and listing resulting benefits.

BIG FIGURES

Companies were not mentioned by name, but Mr. Sommers said two were interested in development of northwestern waters. These are likely the Aluminum Co. of America and Frobius Ltd. One proposal involved diversion of the Yukon River south through Atlin to Taku River. The maximum horsepower potential here would be 4,500,000, he said. Alcoa's proposal, to cost $700,000,000, would involve smelting of aluminum.

Diversion south to Skagway, Alaska, would bring 2,000,000 horsepower and cost would be $300,000,000. This was another Alcoa idea.

"We will try to get the best possible deal for B.C., regardless of the company," said Mr. Sommers.

B.C., he said, would remain rich only as long as the natural resources outweighed the demand. Government policy was to dispose of these "without fear or favor."

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Bedtime story for babies. At about 2½ months, or just as soon as baby is able to lift his head, he can start sleeping part time on his tummy. The advantages: (1) covers stay put better, (2) baby can lift himself, exercise arms and back, (3) baby won't get quite as wet.

So happy, so sad. When your little one starts showing his first teeth, it's a proud and happy time for you. But for baby, it's sometimes a bad experience. Here's a way to ease him over his teething troubles. Gerber's Teething Biscuits provide baby with the chewing satisfaction he needs, give gentle comfort to tender gums. Made from wholesome ingredients, Teething Biscuits are specially firm, specially shaped so that little hands can hold them easily. Individually wrapped in cellophane, so convenient for you to carry in pocket or purse when visiting.

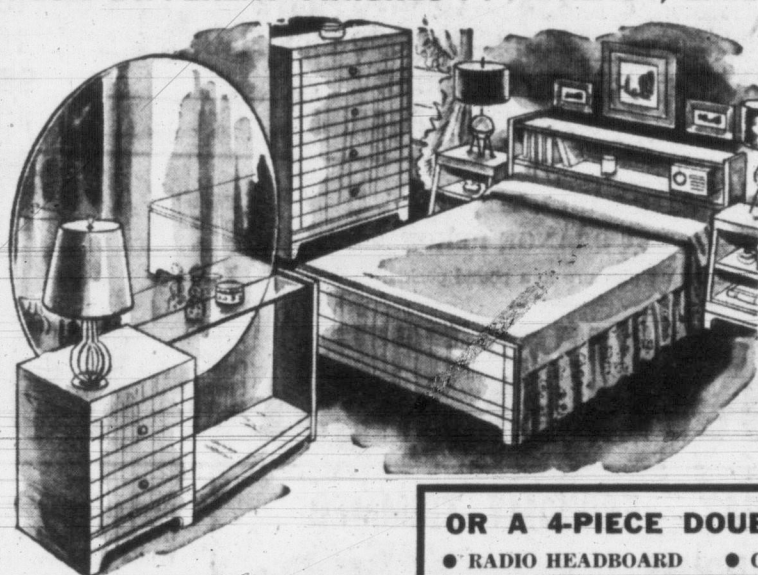

Familiar ideas. New foods, at whatever age, are more pleasing to baby if you make them similar in texture to foods he's familiar with. Cereals should be quite soupy at first. As baby progresses to pureed or strained foods, then to minced junior foods, he'll be happier with a thicker cereal consistency.

Many doctors prescribe orange juice as soon as baby is happily established on milk or formula. Important facts to remember about Gerber's Strained Orange Juice, processed just for babies: it's made from tree-ripened oranges, selected for high Vitamin C content. It has an especially mild, natural flavor. And Gerber's Orange Juice is carefully pasteurized and finely strained.

Tell us your favorite tips for bringing up baby. We'd all love to share them. Send to Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

GALLUP POLL OF CANADA

Folk Less Happy in Winter Of '54 Than Spring of '52

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

Compared with 1952, fewer Canadians today describe themselves as "very happy."

Basis for this statement comes from a national study, repeated for the third time in Canada, in which an accurate cross-section of Canadian adults were posed this question, among others:

"In general, how happy would you say that you are, happy, fairly happy, or not very happy?"

The same question was posed, nationally, in three periods of time—in 1946, 1952 and again today, so that a reliable comparison is possible.

When results for previous years were published in leading Canadian newspapers, some critics claimed that happiness is such a subtle thing, that people couldn't describe their own conditions. Yet the fact is, that the Institute invariably finds one of the lowest "no opinion" figures on this study. On most issues, the "no opinion" vote runs around 10 per cent, but only three per cent of those asked this question were unable to describe their mood.

Here are the results for the three studies:

| | 1946 | 1952 | Today |
|-------------------------------------|------|------|-------|
| Very happy | 25% | 24% | 20% |
| Fairly happy | 58% | 57% | 54% |
| Not very happy, or not happy at all | 13% | 17% | 23% |
| No opinion | 3% | 2% | 3% |

At first glance, the above table indicates that 1952 was a happy period for Canadians, but it is interesting to bear in mind the possible influence of seasons on the results. The 1946 study was done in the "melancholy time" of autumn; the 1952 study was carried out in the happy month of April, and the 1954 study in the grim month of January!

Consistently, the Institute finds that:

1. The higher one's formal education, the greater the odds are that one will describe oneself as very, or fairly happy.
2. Married people are more apt to be very happy than are single people. Least happy of all are widowed, divorced or separated people.
3. There is no evidence that younger people are any happier, on the average, than older people.
4. More people in British Columbia describe themselves as "very happy" than in any other province.

Grocer Wins $171,483 In Football Pool

WALLASEY, Eng. (AP) — Grocer John Jenkins won £61,244 ($171,483) in a football pool Tuesday — but he can't spare time to collect his rich prize personally at a London reception.

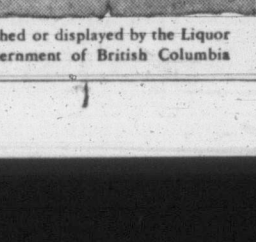

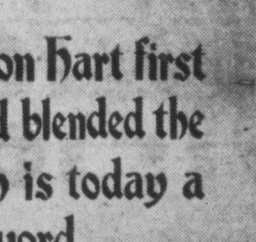

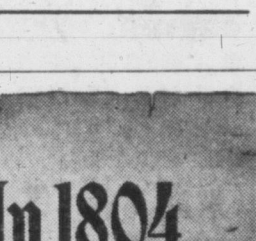

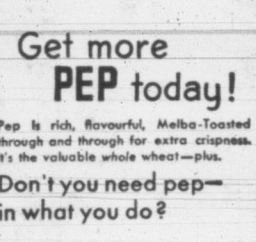

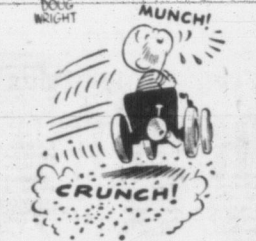

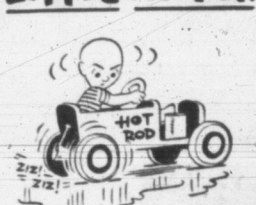

"My customers will expect me in the shop first thing in the morning," he said. "And I shall be there."

Jenkins, who is 59, won his fortune by correctly forecasting eight drawn soccer matches. He staked sixpence.

Three Plays Open V.I. Drama Festival

Portland Adjudicator Praises
St. Luke's Players' Stagecraft

By AUDREY ST. DAVIDSON

Miss Margaret Barney, who last visited Victoria three or four years ago when she played a part with a Portland Civic Theatre group in a former festival, passed judgment Tuesday night on the first three plays to be presented in the current Southern Vancouver Island Drama Festival.

The Portland adjudicator, introduced by Sir Robert Holland, honorary chairman, expressed pleasure at being once more in "one of my favorite cities." She commented on the difficulties shared by all teams in working with inflexible white stage lights, and had a special word of commendation for the "sweet singing" of an ensemble from the Victoria Musical Arts, conducted by Margery Vaughan. They presented groups of songs during the intermissions and were accompanied by Elsie Friend.

The festival was declared open by Hon. Robert W. Bonner, minister of education, who was introduced by Mrs. F. D. Mulholland, chairman of the festival committee. Plays will be presented nightly until Friday, when an honor performance of three plays selected by Miss Barney will conclude the sixth one-act play festival to be staged in Victoria since the Second World War.

Director—Mrs. Flora Nicholson

This was beautifully staged with good color used throughout the set, Miss Barney considered. She praised Maureen Fitzgerald's use of the stage furniture and commended the excellent audibility of the whole cast. Her chief criticism lay in the failure to establish a relationship between characters. "It must be clear who belongs to who," she stated, but added that it was a gay little piece which the audience had obviously enjoyed as much as she.

The adjudicator felt that a quality was established at the opening of the curtain on this piece, but that it did not follow through in the action. It was not a very good choice although a delightful farce, she said, for the reason that to be successful it requires a thorough knowledge of the backgrounds of Russian peasant life and Tchekov.

"nothing can replace Butter"
for richness and higher quality in cooking

If ever you have dined at Ottawa's famous Chateau Laurier, you'll agree... Chef Freitag knows whereof he speaks! In all his tempting dishes, he uses only butter. No substitute could possibly give the delicate flavour, the smooth, golden richness of fresh creamy butter.

Taste Chef Freitag's own recipe for BUTTER MEUNIÈRE—a sauce for sautéed fish, steaks or chops.

When fish or meat is ready to serve, squeeze the juice of a quartered lemon over it. Sprinkle with fresh chopped parsley or chives. In a frying pan, brown 2 ounces of butter for each person. Pour over fish or meat.

it's always better with Butter!

As every housewife knows, for good eating and good living, you just can't beat butter. From the simplest hot biscuits to the most elegant layer cake, everything you make tastes so much better with butter.

Park Timber Revenue Set At $86,300

Mount Bruce Park timber on Salt Spring Island would be $86,300, the Legislative standing committee on forestry learned today.

Committee chairman Ray Williston (S.C. Fort George) presented a report, the figure based on assumption that log prices remained steady.

Felled and bucked timber in the park totaled 940,814 board feet, mostly Douglas fir, and logs are still in good condition, the report said.

Standing timber of good quality exists over 357 acres and totals 7,413 MBM with an average per acre volume of 20.8 MBM.

VICTORIA NOT AFFECTED

Famous Players Theatres Threatened by Strike

Famous Players theatres in most parts of B.C. may be closed next week by a projectionists' strike. The strike would not affect Victoria, however.

Members of the motion picture projectionists' unions have set Sunday, March 7, as the deadline for the company to meet demands for a 25-cent-an-hour wage increase, an employer-paid pension plan and other benefits.

A spokesman in Vancouver said if the deadline were not met, projectionists would strike. Negotiations affecting those threatening strike action began last July. A conciliation board recommended a 10-cent hourly increase and scrapping of the pension demand. The company offered a compromise settlement of 15 cents an hour.

Victoria and lower Island projectionists are not affected since they bargain separately. Their negotiations with Famous Players are continuing.

Paramount's 'VistaVision' Is Answer to CinemaScope

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Paramount Tuesday night unveiled its new VistaVision process and opened a full-scale war of the big screens.

The Paramount process is a three competitive with CinemaScope, adopted by 20th Century-Fox last year. The studio converted all its films to CinemaScope and most of the other studios have made films in that process.

The lone holdout was Paramount. Vista-Vision is the reason why. The studio's technicians developed a process whereby the film was fed into the camera horizontally, instead of the normal up-and-down method. This produced a negative more than twice the normal size. This large negative is then compressed to the standard 35-millimetre frame for release.

Paramount said this process can be used for virtually any size of screen frame and is not limited to the "ribbon-like effect" of CinemaScope. In other words, the picture can be higher and not as broad.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Max Eastman, in a Reader's Digest reprint of a Saturday Review of Literature article, laments the "passing of 'Lost Art of Oratory'."

(Don't go away so soon. This isn't going to be as editorial pageish as it sounds.)

Mr. Eastman says "you rarely hear a man described as an orator these days. We pay tribute to Demosthenes... but if warned someone is going to 'orate,' we run, not walk to the nearest exit."

Mr. Eastman is right as rain, but it is partly because of changing times.

For instance, in Demosthenes' time, a rising young orator wouldn't tackle a speech unless he had pebbles in his mouth.

Nowadays, most of the would-be orators have rocks in their heads.

But this isn't the main reason for the decline of oratory. There are lots of people ready to orate at the drop of the hat (especially if the hat happens to drop in the election ring).

But the trouble is, there are hardly any people ready to listen.

Everybody is too busy trying to get a word in edgewise to let any other person get a word in edgewise.

Even (or should I say, especially) a tiny, skinny little word like "I," which, you'd think, could be slipped in edgewise almost anywhere.

You know from your own experience just what I mean. You remember the night Bill insisted on telling that dreadfully dull story about how he caught the 10½-pound mud-basker on eight-pound test line, and you had no chance to tell your frightfully thrilling story of how you caught an 11½-pound mudbasker on seven-pound test line.

No matter how often you said "yes, but did you hear about...?" Bill kept right on, droning along.

See what I mean? People just won't listen.

No wonder orators are dying out. Even when a man is lucky enough to get right up there on the platform, with a chairman to pound the gavel and say "Now hear this...," and the audience too polite to interrupt, there is no guarantee anyone will actually listen to him.

Next time you emerge from a luncheon meeting, at which the guest speaker gave a fascinating talk on the mating habits of newts in Lake Tititlaha, try this honest evaluation:

Using the method of total recall, make a list of all the business and domestic problems you were thinking about, instead of listening to the speaker.

I'll bet it will be an impressive list. (By the way, if you manage to solve any of the problems, let me know how you do it. I never seem to be able to concentrate enough, and just as I'm getting somewhere, I unconsciously hear something the speaker is saying.)

There is no doubt about it, Mr. Eastman is right, the art of oratory is lost.

The only way to bring it back is, all of us should learn to be better listeners.

Who'll be the first volunteer?

You will? Wonderful!

Did I ever tell you about the time I caught the 12½-pound mudbasker on six-pound test line? Well,

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. HUNTER

"All right; I'll play with you, but only for a few minutes," said Uncle Joe resignedly, knowing very well that his three nieces would give him no peace until he did so. He jingled a fistful of coins, and promised he'd give them to the one who could guess their value. "One dollar sixty-five," hazarded Pam. After some more jingling, Pat took a chance "Two dollars forty," she suggested. Peg could hardly wait: "A dollar fifty," she cried, "now pay up and no cheating." Uncle Joe opened his hand and let them count the coins; all three guesses were wrong. But he saw a chance to buy some peace: "Pam's guess was nearest," he told them, "so I'll give her one dollar if you'll leave me alone for the rest of the afternoon." In race, Pam's error was half of Peg's and a quarter of Pat's. What was the correct amount?

Citizens Want No Garbage Here!

Farmers Ask Government for Co-Op Minister

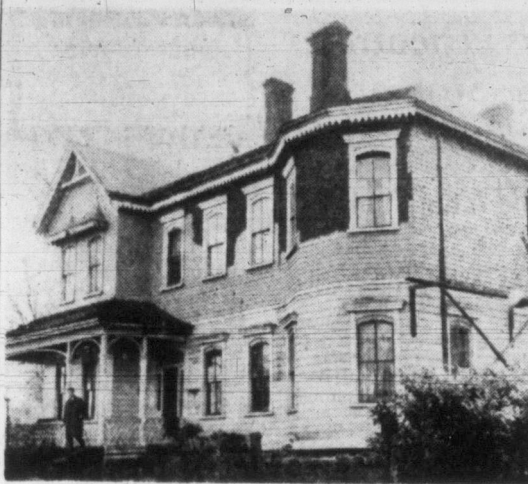

Maintain Growth Justifies Post

A request to the government to establish a Ministry of Co-operatives was made today by a 10-man delegation from the B.C. Advisory Board of Farmers' Institutes.

Meeting with the Standing Committee on Agriculture, the representatives urged establishment of the post due to increased numbers of co-operatives operating in the province, marketing a large percentage of agricultural products.

The group also urged founding of an agricultural school in B.C. and that more attention be given to encouraging vocational agriculture in the curriculum of high schools.

Also asked was removal of school tax from land and redistribution equally among the people.

Welcome Mat May Be Hidden

W. A. Scott, at his Carberry Gardens home, has offered space to evicted Johnson Street cabin pensioners whose quarters have been condemned. But zoning by-laws may put his sanctuary "out-of-bounds" to paying guests. (Times photo.)

Pensioners' Sanctuary May Be Out-of-Bounds

Officials at City Hall have heeded statements made by W. A. Scott and Harry Haigh that they will open their houses to old-age pensioners asked to vacate cabins on Johnson Street. They are watching developments.

Though not commenting on the matter, one official pointed out both Mr. Scott's house at 1003 Carberry Gardens and Mr. Haigh's house at 1586 Rockland are in an area zoned as "residential—no exceptions."

The Johnson Street cabin dwellers, who number about 46, were served notice to vacate March 31, but a petition to the city resulted in them being given a time extension to the end of June.

Mr. Scott, who has interested himself in the case, said he and

Mr. Haigh would provide accommodation for some of them if $5,000 could be raised to provide light housekeeping services so that each man could have a room of his own in either one of their two houses. He suggested trade unions would be asked to provide this sum.

Mr. Haigh was taken to court by the city last year for renting space in his Rockland Avenue home against city zoning regulations. His case was dismissed, however, when it was shown a provincial order-in-council, passed under Wartime Housing, was still in effect. It allowed him to rent any space which he did not use himself.

City Council has since asked the government that that order-in-council be repealed so that its zoning regulations may be enforced.

GARBAGE PROTEST

He told of visiting recently an area in Vancouver which had been reclaimed through this method. He reported that the soil which resulted from the decomposition of garbage was "a fine, light soil."

He said the plan proposed for Victoria would require a bulldozer and crew of three at the dumping grounds. Garbage would be brought there by truck; the bulldozer would run over it and compact it to one-third of its original volume, and at the end of the day this would be "sealed" with a two-foot covering of earth.

Mr. Jones said all garbage could be handled in this way, but suggested the larger of two incinerators now at the garbage wharf would be moved to the site to dispose of light combustible materials. He said the incinerator would be placed at the southern end of the dumping ground, farthest away from residences, and would not be a nuisance.

He saw no reason why Oak

Bay and Esquimalt should not continue to pay the city to dispose of its garbage. He said the same equipment and crew would be required no matter how much garbage was dumped.

At the same time, he pointed out that during fire weather months, Esquimalt disposed of its own garbage through a sanitary landfill method at Skimmers Flat, a swamp area bounded by Lampson, Colville, Ellery and Phoenix. Esquimalt initiated the project last summer and has yet to receive any protests at the Municipal Hall.

Mr. Jones agreed today residents of the Topaz area should be given a detailed report of what was proposed so they might fully understand what was planned. He felt they could be shown the final result would be to their advantage.

He said trucks going to and from the dumping ground would not worry anyone since they would be provided with an entrance of their own, off Douglas Street, along Finlayson right-of-way.

CONVICTED FORGER DENIES HIS GUILT

'I Might as Well Have My Sentence ...'

A 21-year-old Vancouver man, found guilty of cashing a forged $50 bank money order, was remanded to Monday for sentence following trial here today.

Bob Cowan, alias James Sinclair, a fixed address, told the court that he could prove his innocence if he obtained the services of a handwriting expert. He had no lawyer.

Cowan, a handsome and apparently self-assured youth, was brought here for trial from Vancouver city jail after he was sentenced to six months on a similar offense in that city early in February.

He told the court that he was found "not guilty" on "14 or 15 other charges" because the Vancouver courts could not identify him as Cowan. Throughout his trial today he steadfastly maintained that he is James Alexander Sinclair. Cowan had been sought since Jan. 11 when in company with two other young Vancouver men he allegedly passed a bank money order which had been raised from $5 to $50. It was given to Albert E. McMullin, manager of Island U-Drive here as a deposit on a car rental and $10 was accepted in change. McMullin identified Cowan as the man who had given the forged money order.

The trio later took the car to the mainland and were halted by RCMP at Chilliwack while en route to Hope.

One of the party, W. D. Bohart, was subsequently sentenced to two years in the B.C. penitentiary on a forgery charge after trial in Vancouver. The third member of the party was unidentified. Cowan refused to tell his name, "as he had been a friend of mine all my life," but he did say the third man had cashed the forged money order. "He looks like me and I can understand the U-drive fellow mistaking him for me."

Bank teller Arthur Joseph Gamble could not positively identify Cowan as the man to whom he had sold a $5 money order and Cowan felt this proved his story.

Magistrate H. C. Hall offered Cowan an adjournment to permit him to obtain a handwriting expert as a witness but Cowan demurred. "I can't afford it. I might as well have my sentence right now."

But the magistrate wanted time to study a probation report of the accused and remanded him to Monday for sentence.

Warren Urges Fight For Ferry Fees Cut

POLIO FUND CLOSES BOOKS AT $69,371

The Greater Victoria Polio campaign will close the books — and Government Street headquarters — at 5 p.m. today, after collecting $69,371, more than double the objective.

Officials call it one of the most successful charitable campaigns in Victoria's history.

Donations will still be accepted, by mail, at Box 306, Victoria.

Publicity Bureau Commissioner Claims Bumper Tourist Crop Could Be Bigger

Fees charged for ferrying autos from B.C. mainland and Olympic Peninsula to Victoria are "a retarding factor" in development of Vancouver Island's tourist trade, Commissioner George I. Warren warned Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau this afternoon.

In his comprehensive, statistics-filled report for 1953, Commissioner Warren emphasized the need for continued urgent representations to transportation companies underlining "the importance of holding the rates for automobiles to a minimum." Several conferences already have been held between CPR officials and Publicity Bureau directors with that objective in view, he added.

Frequent fast ferries also are needed, Mr. Warren declared. He indicated hopefulness these services would be provided, noting with satisfaction that by augmenting schedules last year both Black Ball and CPR had "shown appreciation of the importance of swift and frequent transportation between Vancouver Island and the Mainland."

TOURISTS TARGET

Publicity Bureau's annual meeting in Empress Hotel ballroom this afternoon also was scheduled to hear a panel discuss co-operative effort to develop B.C.'s tourist trade. Speakers were to be F. H. Elphicke, Vancouver Tourist Association president; H. J. W. Evans, Upper Vancouver Island Tourist Association president; and Deputy Minister E. G. Rowbottom of B.C.'s trade and industry department.

Election of six directors from the general membership—composed of Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich ratepayers and those who subscribed to the Publicity Bureau's treasury—was scheduled to be made from a slate proposed by a nominations committee composed of Mayor Claude L. Harrison and four former mayors of Victoria: Herbert H. Anscomb, Percy E. George, Reginald Hayward and J. C. Pendray.

Other three members of the nine-man directorate are Victoria City Council nominees Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, Ald. Brent Murdoch and Ald. William Pinfold.

They feel they must have an issue before them all the time. I believe that if we solved their problem today, they'd have another problem tomorrow."

He said they are more to be pitied than blamed. "The sect is a victim of its own leadership."

GOT A PIANO?

Baby Grand Needed for Totem Play

Totem Theatre is in search of a baby grand piano.

The property man has not got one for the set of "George and Margaret," an English comedy which opens Monday.

The Gerald Favory play is a perennial favorite.

The piano is important because Stuart Baker and Jack Droy take leading roles in this play as pianists studying for concert work... and they badly need an instrument.

Sam Payne, Rosemary Malkin, Norma Macmillan, Neil McLeod, Barbara McLeod and Kitty Dutcher all are in the cast.

No RCN Ships Available for Alberni Fete

Mayor Loran Jordan of Port Alberni has suggested inviting U.S. Navy units to take part in Empire Day celebrations because the Canadian Navy has "refused" to detail a ship for the occasion.

The suggestion was made at a city council meeting Tuesday.

An RCN spokesman here today explained the "refusal" as a matter of necessity.

"We will have no ship available on that date," he said. "Of the Pacific command fleet, two ships will be in the Far East; two in for annual refit; and the two new frigates, due here April 1, will be on extensive summer training exercises."

Anacortes Ferry Scheduled for 3 Trips Daily

Washington State Ferries will increase service between Sidney and Anacortes to three trips daily during the summer months, with two trips on Sundays.

Decision to increase the service was based on heavy traffic last year, Floyd J. McDowell, general manager of Washington State Ferries, said in Victoria today. He is here to attend the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

The schedule, effective June 19 through Sept. 6, calls for daily departures from Sidney at 10:20 a.m., 2:15 p.m., and 5 p.m. Ferries will leave Anacortes at 7 a.m., 10:45 a.m., and 1:30 p.m. Up to 200 cars daily can be handled with the increased service, Mr. McDowell said.

Victoria agent for Washington State Ferries is Blaney's Capital Travel Service.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Can you tell me in what year Mt. Baker last erupted?

A. The greatest of Baker's eruptions recorded since the white man came to this coast was that of 1881. That display was seen by many on Vancouver Island. Hundreds of Victorians, and probably persons visiting the city, went to Beacon Hill, from where they saw great clouds of smoke during the daytime and fiery illuminations at night. Among the people on the southern mainland of B.C. who saw that volcanic activity were those at Matsqui Prairie. It is believed there were eruptions in the '40's, but history records later outbursts with greater certainty, for files of the Victoria Gazette and of the Daily Colonist tell of eruptions in 1859, '60, '63, '65, '67, '72 and 1901. Thus there probably are people still living on this island who witnessed the last eruption which was less in violence, of course, than that of 1881.

Canada's Exports Drop Sharply in January, DBS Shows

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's exports, one of the economy's major props, dropped sharply during January as the United States and other countries curtailed purchases of Canadian goods.

Exports to all countries declined by $55,900,000 to $265,400,000 from $321,300,000 in January, 1953, the bureau of statistics reported today in a preliminary statement.

Imports, still a little ahead of exports, slid by $45,000,000 to $281,900,000 from $327,800,000. The deficit in Canadian trade was widened to $16,500,000 from $6,500,000 in January last year.

7 Die When RAF Flying Boat Crashes in Wales

PEMBROKE, Wales (AP)—

An RAF Sunderland flying boat crashed today in an odd, wave-provoked take-off accident, killing seven of the 11 men aboard.

All four engines were injured, two of them seriously. A fifth man was pulled from the wreckage but died a short time later. The other six, trapped aboard, went to the bottom when the four-engine plane sank.

The Sunderland, oldest type still in service with the RAF, began what appeared to be a normal take-off down Milford Haven bay near this port.

Suddenly the aircraft smashed heavily into a wave, apparently before being airborne, filled with water and then foundered.

Jazz Society Scores Hit in Miller Concert

Over 200 jazz fans roared their approval of the "Glen Miller" concert at the Victoria Ballroom Tuesday night.

Staged by the New Victoria Jazz Society, the soiree featured a 17-piece orchestra under popular Gordie King.

The music, all well-known Miller arrangements, was well performed.

Sinking Mexico City Needs $1 Billion

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Mexican capital, sinking at the rate of about a foot a year, must spend $1,000,000,000 in the next six years if the damaging situation is to be corrected, Mayor Erasto P. Uruchurtu said Tuesday.

The mayor said figures show the city, built on a former lake, sank four feet between 1949 and 1952 and is continuing to do so at about the same rate.

SEE THREE SUNS

HULL, England (Reuters)—

People stopped in their tracks here Tuesday unable to believe their eyes. In the sky they saw three suns and many crisscrossed rainbows. A weather official explained that the phenomenon was a double reflection of the sun. It and the rainbows were caused by solar rays shining through high clouds and a layer of ice crystals.

OAK BAY TORIES OPPOSE EUROPEAN IMMIGRATION

Oak Bay Conservative Association executive went on record Tuesday night as opposing an increase in immigration of people from European countries.

A motion passed by the executive reads: "Be it resolved that this association strongly disapproves of any assistance to encourage further immigration than has been normally maintained from European countries and that more consideration should be given to immigrants from the United Kingdom who are able to qualify for citizenship."

The action followed remarks made by Prime Minister St. Laurent, who has reportedly promised Italy's premier that immigration of people in that country to Canada would be increased as much as possible.

Keys Says Atom Power Rider's Face Cut in Deader Than Electric Motorbike-Car Crash

TORONTO (BUP)—Dr. David

Facial cuts sent Rex P. Keys, of Atomic of Canada Ltd., Tuesday night after his motorbike was in collision with a car at Cook and Hillside. Driver of the car, William Burrows, but the price would drop later as we learn more about what we have.

Dr. Keys said that the energy of one pound of uranium was equivalent to 11,400,000 gallons of gasoline, or 2,600,000 pounds of coal or 53,000 men working eight hours a day for a year.

Canada-U.S. Capital To Build B.C. Mill

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—

A $2,000,000 pulp mill financed by Canadian and American capital may be built here, Mayor Gordon Bryant reported Monday.

The mill, he said, would depend partly on material now burned as waste in local sawmills. Initial output would be 150 tons of dried pulp a day.

The mayor has been asked to help in finding a 25-acre site for the mill.

College Enrollment Expected to Double

Student enrollment at the University of British Columbia and colleges throughout British Columbia is expected to double in the next 12 years, Victoria College officials estimate that by 1960 some 350 students will be enrolled. There are 300 now attending.

Future Lies in North Interior, Kiwanis Told

The undeveloped northern interior of British Columbia "holds the future of the whole of the province and probably of Canada," R. G. Williston, MLA, Fort George told members of the Kiwanis Club at luncheon in the Empress Tuesday.

Mr. Williston said that "wealth unheard of" will be tapped in this area once it becomes accessible by the PGE and roads.

He indicated that a "large pulp mill" will be built in the Fraser River delta "in the very near future." For this purpose a large portion of land said Mr. Williston has been set aside in this area for some time.

The vast interior plateau is a heavily mineralized area and the PGE, when built, will pass through the largest known coal reserves in the world.

The area north of Prince

George offers the best farming country in Canada he stated.

This area has never experienced a complete crop failure.

The barely accessible Mt. Robson Park, it developed said Mr. Williston, "would make Jasper and Banff look sick."

He illustrated his talk with a series of colored slides depicting industry and tourist attraction of the northern interior.

Alcoholism Clinic To Be Ready by Fall

AUTHORITY ON LEPERS SPEAKS HERE THURSDAY

A world authority on mission work among lepers is a visitor in Victoria today.

A. Donald Miller, general secretary of the Mission to the Lepers, is in the city on his way home from visiting leprosy centers in India, Colombo, Singapore, Hong Kong, Formosa, Japan and Korea. With his wife, Dr. Marjorie Miller, he is en route to the general headquarters of the mission in London.

During his brief stay here, Mr. Miller will speak at a public meeting tomorrow evening at 8, in the Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Miller, who served the mission in India from 1922 to 1942 and has been general secretary since 1943, has been honored for his work by the Crown. His organization is a supervisory and co-ordinating body which co-operates with all churches in leper work. It is estimated that there are between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 lepers in the world.

Stalin's Doctor Fired As Red Health Minister

NEW YORK (AP)—Some strange things are going on in the Kremlin. It looks as if the shades of the sensational and later discredited "doctors' plot" have risen once more to haunt the Soviet scene.

Just one year ago Tuesday Joseph Stalin suffered the stroke that supposedly killed him three days later. Tuesday's Soviet press announces that the man who bossed the final medical treatment of Stalin and who headed the list of those signing his death certificate, A. F. Tretyakov, has been fired from his job as minister of health.

No explanation is given. But in Soviet history, the signing of death certificates of prominent Communists is a risky business. In the 1930s the men who treated writer Maxim Gorky and Valerian Kulbyshchev, a political member, were shot on charges of assassinating their patients.

Income Tax Oddity Blow to Dockyarders

The Victoria local of the the 12-month period, bringing them up to Dec. 31.

A union spokesman said this was a heavy and unexpected blow to the workers, and would be protested to the receiver general.

The T-4 forms given hourly-paid workers at HMC Dockyard cover their total earnings in 1953, plus what they earned during the second half of Dec. 1952.

A spokesman at the Dockyard acknowledged this to be a fact.

His explanation was that some years ago Dockyard workers had escaped being taxed on what they earned in the last half of the previous December, and that since that time had been issued tax statements covering their earnings from mid-December to mid-December instead of for the calendar year.

TOLD TO CONFORM

He said orders had been issued from Ottawa not to perpetuate this practice and to bring Dockyard workers in line with all other taxpayers by issuing this year statements for the calendar year.

Aldermen to See If Bushes Needed On Dallas Road

Members of city council's public works committee will make a personal inspection of the Dallas Road waterfront west of Douglas Street before deciding whether bushes there should be removed.

A petition was submitted some time ago from persons wishing the bushes removed. It was alleged the dense growth was being used by some for improper and immoral purposes.

A letter before the committee today from C. S. Gonnason, 630 Dallas Road, said the bush should remain since it provided a natural windbreak without which residents' flower gardens would not grow.

He added that in 25 years of residence he had never seen evidence that the bushes had been used for any wrongful purposes.

BUDGET COMING MONDAY, TUESDAY?

Government whips definitely indicated today that the Throne speech debate in the Legislature will continue through the Friday sitting. This means that the provincial budget—which may announce a complete change in financing hospital insurance by wiping out premiums and substituting an increase in sales tax—will not be presented until either Monday or Tuesday next week. The opening debate, by running to the end of the third week of the session, is one of the longest on record.

CPR to Appeal Board Ruling On 9% Hike

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway will appeal Board of Transport's Feb. 15 judgment refusing to allow the railway a specified "rate of return" on its investment in rail property, it was learned today. The appeal would be made to Supreme Court of Canada.

The transport judgment has been called its most important ruling in 50 years.

The railway, informants said, will contend that a "fair return" to a company is implicit in the long-standing parliamentary direction to the board that it is to prescribe "just and reasonable" freight rates.

In the railway application that was largely thrown out by the board two weeks ago, the CPR contended it should have a "rate of return" on its rail investment that would give it a 9 per cent freight rate increase now and open the way for possible rate increases later.

British Seek Truce With Mau Mau Body

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—Britain launched an effort today to negotiate a truce with the terrorist Mau Mau organization which has brought death and terror to thousands in its efforts to drive the white man out of Africa.

British authorities were aided in their efforts by "General China," captured No. 2 leader of the terrorists whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment for his co-operation.

British officials established contact with the terrorists through letters written by General China to his subordinates, an official statement said.

The statement said questioning of China, who was questioned when he was captured January 16, indicated a widespread feeling among the Mau Mau that further fighting was useless.

CANADA-RUSS GAME MAY DECIDE TITLE

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada remained unbeaten in the world hockey championships today by easily defeating Germany 8-1.

It was the fourth straight victory in the eight-team round robin tournament for Toronto East York which meets Moscow Dynamos, also unbeaten, next Sunday in the final, and what may be the deciding game of the championships.

Earlier today Czechoslovakia defeated Norway 7-1. The Czechs now have a 4-1 record.

The Russians had a game scheduled for later today and were not expected to have any trouble with Switzerland.

Radar Fence May Stretch Out to Sea

Picket Ships Being Considered

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States are thinking seriously of posting radar picket ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Defence officials said today an ocean radar screen will have to be established eventually as the Russians develop bombers with longer ranges.

Up to now, the main threat of attack against North America has been across Arctic regions. That will probably continue to be the main avenue for any attack for some time to come. But as bombers increase their range, defence planners say they must consider the possibility of air attack coming directly from the sea and with little warning.

According to this view, attacking bombers, instead of flying by the shortest route over the Arctic, might travel south over the Atlantic or Pacific Oceans, outside radar range, then wheel swiftly into the coasts.

The answer to this threat, officials said, would be a system of floating radar stations.

600 B.C. Oil Workers Delay Strike Action

VANCOUVER (BUP)—An oil workers' strike that would have tied up four B.C. companies and a plant in Edmonton was postponed today after a last-minute indication of concessions by the operators.

Six hundred members of the Oil Worker's International Union had set a strike deadline of 8 a.m. today at the Shell, Standard and Imperial refineries and the British-American Oil Co. marketing plant here. The Imperial Oil plant at Edmonton was to have been included because the company brings supplies to this province. Walter McCallum, international representative of the union, said early today the deadline had been postponed following union-company negotiations Tuesday afternoon and evening. He said further meetings were scheduled "soon."

'DISREGARD OF THE STANDARDS OF FAIR PLAY' Eisenhower Defends General Flayed by McCarthy as Unfit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today spoke out against "disregard of the standards of fair play" in congressional investigations. He specifically lauded Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, whom Senator Joseph McCarthy had termed unfit for command.

McCarthy promptly retorted he'd go on investigating Communism. He said:

"If a stupid, arrogant or witless man in a position of power appears before our committee and is found aiding the Communist party, he will be exposed. The fact that he might be a general places him in no special class as far as I am concerned."

"It now appears that for some reason he was a sacred cow of certain army brass."

It was McCarthy's criticism of Zwicker during interrogation on the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress that touched off last week's row and a complaint by Army Secretary Robert Stevens that Zwicker had been humiliated.

At one point, Stevens ordered Zwicker not to appear again before McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, but he later agreed the general and other army officers would testify.

ARMY ERRED

Eisenhower opened his press conference today by reading an 800-word statement. It stated at the outset that the army "made serious errors in handling the Peress case" and noted that Stevens had so stated publicly.

The President said the army was "correcting the procedures" to avoid such mistakes in the future.

But he implied criticism of McCarthy's methods without mentioning the Wisconsin Republican by name when he said:

"In opposing Communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness, we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

Congress Shooting Said Part of Plot

(Copyright, 1954, by United Press)

NEW YORK (UP)—The shooting of five congressmen in Washington on Monday was part of a plot to overthrow the United States government by the assassination of its leaders. Private advices to the United Press from San Juan, Puerto Rico, said today that among those marked for death in the plot were President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover.

The advices from Puerto Rico said the Federal Bureau of Investigation has alerted its agents to the possibility of further outbreaks of violence by fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists. In addition to Mr. Eisenhower, Dulles and Hoover, there is said to be a plot to kill Gov. Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, who now is in the United States, and Antonio Fernos-Isern, week.

Peril of Assassinations Remains

There was no indication that the projected assassination of Mr. Eisenhower, Dulles, Hoover and the Puerto Rican leaders was scheduled to have taken place simultaneously with the shooting in the House of Representatives. Thus the peril, according to UP advices, still remains and the possibility of further attempts at assassination is the reason for the FBI alert.

Advices to the UP said the shooting in Washington was viewed with approval by Nationalist headquarters in Puerto Rico. Albizu Campos, Nationalist leader in Puerto Rico, was reported to have instructed his followers to resist arrest.

The FBI has been watching the Nationalist Party since its violent manifestations in 1936. After Campos was released from prison following long Communist propaganda in his behalf, Vito Marcantonio, then a member of the House of Representatives in Washington, denounced the FBI for seeking to have Campos returned to prison as a probation violator. Marcantonio said that "the conduct of the FBI against Campos is criminal."

Marcantonio formerly represented a New York Congressional district containing thousands of Puerto Ricans. Campos was quoted in an interview in the pro-independence newspaper El Imparcial as saying that he considers Puerto Rico at war with the United States.

The interview also quoted the Nationalist leader as saying Monday's terrorist attack in Congress was "sublime heroism."

Campos' party was responsible for this week's outbreak as well as the terrorist attempt on President Truman's life in 1950 and the abortive revolt in Puerto Rico the same year in which 33 persons were killed.

The Nationalist leader was

NQ COMMENT—Speculation mounted today that Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott is on his way out of the House of Commons and into the Supreme Court. Unconfirmed reports that he has been tagged for the job came to head when Stanley Knowles, CCF MP, told the Commons "I don't want to indulge in any form of witchcraft or fortune telling... but I will go so far as to make the prediction that the minister of finance will not be bringing down supplementary budgets on many more occasions." Abbott will turn his estimates over to Parliament on June 22, the same day the present chief justice becomes 75 years of age and, Knowles concluded, "I wonder whether there might be a change involving the present minister of finance." Abbott had no comment.

Mountaineers' Lectures Aid Little Ones

Some 16 youngsters, oldest of whom is 13, all suffering from cerebral palsy, are currently receiving daily treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital's old nurses' home. The children are driven to the clinic each day by volunteer drivers from Oak Bay and Victoria fire departments in three cars which have been supplied by three city garages. The association, which will have its coffers swelled by proceeds from the Times-sponsored lecture by Sid Edmund Hillary at Memorial Arena Monday night, operates the clinic. Here, Mrs. Molly Houston, physiotherapist at the clinic, consoles four youngsters who visited clinic Tuesday. (Times photo.)

Radar Fence
May Stretch
Out to SeaPicket Ships
Being Considered

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States are thinking seriously of posting radar picket ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Defense officials said today an ocean radar screen will have to be established eventually as the Russians develop bombers with longer ranges.

Up to now, the main threat of attack against North America has been across Arctic regions. That will probably continue to be the main avenue for any attack for some time to come. But as bombers increase their range, defense planners say they must consider the possibility of air attack coming directly from the sea and with little warning.

According to this view, attacking bombers, instead of flying by the shortest route over the Arctic, might travel south over the Atlantic or Pacific Oceans, outside radar range, then wheel swiftly into the coasts.

The answer to this threat, officials said, would be a system of floating radar stations.

Petition Hits
Garbage PlanTopaz Owners Hope to Block Council
Decision Thursday on 'Sanitary Fill'

Topaz Heights residents, adjacent to the proposed new city "dump," propose to protest by petition against garbage disposal at their doors.

They are in favor of having the Baker Brick and Tile Company land, site of the dump, filled and reclaimed for development. But not with garbage.

City council's public works committee Tuesday set up a plan to dispose of garbage on the 9.55 acres of land belonging to the brick and tile company.

The committee's plan will go before city council at 2 p.m. Thursday. So will the protest petition from the residents in the area affected.

Householders in the Topaz Heights subdivision, closest to the site, say they don't care what the city calls it; what the city proposes is a garbage dump which they do not want in their neighborhood.

Residents of Alder Street, pooled on the matter were unanimously opposed to the scheme. Those on the west side complained the dump would be "almost up against our back yards."

MET LAST NIGHT

Neighbors met Tuesday night, after plans for the new system of garbage disposal had been revealed by the city public works committee. It was arranged then that a petition would be circulated tonight and presented to council Thursday.

BUDGET COMING
MONDAY, TUESDAY?

Government whips definitely indicated today that the Throne speech debate in the Legislature will continue through the Friday sitting.

This means that the provincial budget—which may announce a complete change in financing hospital insurance by wiping out premiums and substituting an increase in sales tax—will not be presented until either Monday or Tuesday next week. The opening debate, by running to the end of the third week of the session, is one of the longest on record.

Real solution to this garbage problem would be to have another political campaign so we could use it all up.

Far's th' PGE plan goes, looks like th' Premier's playin' both end against th' middle.

Bandmaster Rowles
Accident Victim

One man died and four were injured in a truck-car collision at Cook and Pembroke Streets just after 1.30 today. It was the city's first traffic death of 1954.

Dead is C. H. Rowles, about 65, of 2701 Asquith, well-known Victoria Boys' Band leader.

He died soon after arrival at Jubilee Hospital.

Names of the injured were released from the hospital:

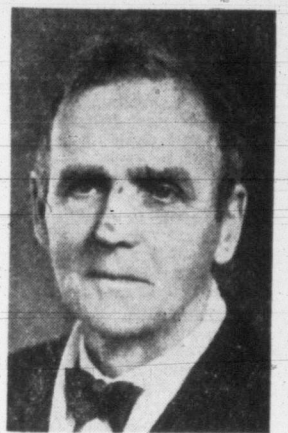

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carr, 2703 Avebury Avenue; Mrs. Webster (initials unknown), 2001 Cameron Avenue, and Charles McFarlane, driver of the truck involved, 145½ Island Highway.

None of the injured is seriously hurt according to first reports.

The driver of the milk truck was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with a cut over his right ear, a cut left ankle and other leg injuries.

He said the other car was in front of him before he had time to avoid hitting it.

He is employed by Northwest Creameries Ltd.

CHARLES H. ROWLES
... boys' band leader
killed in car crash

DRIVEN OFF ROAD

The collision took place at the corner of Cook and Pembroke Streets, and the force of the impact drove both the car and truck from the road. The truck came to rest almost touching the fence of Athletic Park.

Police carried the injured to Royal Jubilee Hospital in two patrol wagons and a plover car.

Early reports on the accident indicated that the car was proceeding west on Pembroke when it was in collision with the dairy truck which was traveling south on Cook.

Mr. Rowles was born in Maidstone, Kent.

He organized and became leader of the Victoria Boys' Band 33 years ago and during his career taught more than 1,500 boys how to play band instruments. Only five feet in height and weighing only 112 pounds, he was known as The Little Bandmaster.

Tally: $3,450

Early returns from the Red Cross $72,000 fund campaign which opened Monday totaled $3,450 at noon today. Very few of the 800 volunteer canvassers have made a report yet, officials said.

CPR to Appeal
Board Ruling
On 9% Hike

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway will appeal Board of Transport's Feb. 15 judgment refusing to allow the railway a specified "rate of return" on its investment in rail property. It was learned today The appeal would be made to Supreme Court of Canada.

The transport judgment has been called its most important ruling in 50 years.

The railway, informants said, will contend that a "fair return" to a company is implicit in the long-standing parliamentary direction to the board that it is to prescribe "just and reasonable" freight rates.

In the railway application that was largely thrown out by the board two weeks ago, the CPR contended it should have a "rate of return" on its rail investment that would give it a 9 per cent freight rate increase now and open the way for possible rate increases later.

Mountaineers' Lectures Aid Little Ones

Some 16 youngsters, oldest of whom is 13, all suffering from cerebral palsy, are currently receiving daily treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital's old nurses' home. The children are driven to the clinic each day by volunteer drivers from Oak Bay and Victoria fire departments in three cars which have been supplied by three city garages. The association, which will have its coffers swelled by proceeds from the Times-sponsored lecture by Sir Edmund Hillary at Memorial Arena Monday night, operates the clinic. Here, Mrs. Molly Houston, physiotherapist at the clinic, consoles four youngsters who visited clinic Tuesday. (Times photo.)
